F.D.R. Plans Gas Ration For Nation

Special Rubber Group Hands in Report to F. D. R.; Alternative 'Impossible'

Expansion Asked

Committee Favors Big Increase in Synthetic Output

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he would put into effect "as rapidly as arrangements can be made" a set of recommendations from his special rubber committee which included nationwide gasoline rationing and drastic restrictions on civilian motorists.

He praised the committee's far-reaching report as "excellent" and said the government owed a debt of gratitude to the committee members. He transmitted copies to Congress for its information.

The committee submitted its report to the Chief Executive with a blunt declaration that there was no middle course in solving the nation's rubber problem, that it was "discomfort or defeat."

In addition to recommending an expansion of the present synthetic rubber production program from an annual total now of 705,000 tons to a contemplated figure of 1,100,000 the committee proposed these additional steps:

That no speed above 35 miles an hour be permitted for passenger cars and trucks, so as to prolong the life of tires by nearly 40 per cent.

That the average annual mileage per car be held to approximately 5,000 miles, and this to be permitted only for "necessary driving."

That more rubber be released to the public through recapping old tires, or the issuance of new ones, so as to maintain fully necessary civilian driving.

That a new gasoline rationing system be devised to save tires, based on 5,000 miles a year of driving per car.

That "the restrictions as to gasoline and mileage be national in their application."

That compulsory periodic tire inspections be instituted.

That a voluntary tire conservation program be put into effect pending establishment of gas rationing, which the committee said was "the only way of saving rubber."

The committee members were Bernard M. Baruch, head of the War Industries Board in the last war; Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University, and Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The group was appointed on August 6 with instructions from President Roosevelt to complete a survey quickly and to propose the best methods of obtaining adequate rubber for military and for essential civilian needs.

They told the President bluntly that "We find the existing situation to be so dangerous that unless corrective measures are taken immediately this country will face both a military and civilian collapse. The naked facts present a warning that darts not be ignored."

Backing up this warning with figures, the committee said total crude rubber supplies available between July 1, 1942 and January 1, 1944 would be 631,000 tons whereas estimated military and other essential demands would total 842,000 tons. And these demands make no allowances for tires for civilian passenger cars.

Deficit Is 211,000 Tons
This leaves a deficit of 211,000 tons which must be met by synthetic rubber production before January 1, 1944.

Drum Issues New Defense Rulings For Atlantic Area

Orders Would Exclude All Undesirables From U.S. Defense Sections to Protect Plants

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—New orders designed to tighten up the safety of the Atlantic coastal home front and to exclude from areas in 16 seaboard states any person considered dangerous to national defense have been laid down by Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the Eastern Defense Command and 1st Army.

In a proclamation issued from 1st Army headquarters at Governors Island, Gen. Drum announced creation of prohibited zones around 1,136 war plants and Army and Navy sites, zones which no person may enter or leave without special individual permit.

A new procedure directly affecting the public was the provision that between sunset and sunrise no ordinary civilian may approach closer to 100 yards to the oceanfront along most of the open coastline from Maine to Florida.

Persons found in prohibited or restricted zones bar the respect of being able at all times to identify themselves to military or civil authorities under penalty of arrest. Enemy aliens in the area will be subject to immediate internment, the order declared.

The proclamation designated 69 restricted zones, most of them along the coast in which cameras, binoculars and other equipment were forbidden and all unauthorized persons were forbidden to go within 100 yards of the ocean at night unless on a public boardwalk or thoroughfare.

Entire towns were included in these zones in some places, one, for example, extending south from the Manasquan Inlet in New Jersey and extending as far west as the inland waterway.

In the New York area, the order does not affect Coney Island, the Rockaways, Long Beach, Jones Beach or other resort centers close to the city not as yet covered by the order. Four other restricted zones near New York cover most of the open coast line of New Jersey from Sandy Hook to Cape May.

Although the proclamation listed 906 prohibited zones—war plants, arsenals, forts, yards, etc.—it described and located only 231 of them, most of which are well known or obvious. Location of the others will be known only by signs at entrances and exits along their boundaries.

A supplemental statement issued by the Office of the Eastern Defense Command said there was no change in General Drum's original statement in a previous proclamation that mass evacuation of enemy aliens was not contemplated. Any evacuations considered necessary, General Drum has said, would be by "selective processes."

Individuals investigated by appropriate agencies will be given a hearing before a board of experienced officers, and a recommendation will be submitted to General Drum, the statement said. "In all cases where exclusion is ordered," the statement said, "the War Relocation Authority is prepared, whenever considered necessary, to assist the individuals concerned in moving to places selected by the individuals and to aid in resettling them there."

Surtax Rates Are Readjusted Below $8,000.00 Incomes

Senate Finance Committee Lowers Rates in Lower Brackets and Boosts Them in Higher

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Senate finance committee today readjusted individual surtax income rates for the brackets below $8,000, lowering them in the lower brackets and increasing them in the higher. Treasury experts estimated the changes would increase total prospective revenue by $33,000,000 a year.

As a result, single persons with net income of $2,000 or less will pay lower income taxes than proposed under the House bill, for those with above $2,000 the total tax liability will be higher.

For married couples without dependents, the break between higher and lower rates as compared with the House bill will come between $2,500 and $3,000 net income (before personal exemptions), and for married couples with two dependents between $3,000 and $4,000.

The House approved bill provided 13 per cent surtax on the first $2,000 of surtax net income, 16 per cent from $2,000 to $4,000, 20 per cent from $4,000 to $6,000 and 24 per cent from $6,000 to $8,000.

The Senate group set the surtax rate at 10 per cent for the first $500, 13 per cent from $500 to $1,000, 15 per cent from $1,000 to $1,500, 17 per cent from $1,500 to $2,000, 19 per cent from $2,000 to $3,000, 21 per cent from $3,000 to $4,000, 23 per cent from $4,000 to $6,000 and 25 per cent from $6,000 to $8,000.

Such action had been forecast. Chairman George (D-Ga.) told reporters the committee might readjust individual income tax rates in the lower brackets in view of its adoption of the five per cent "victory" levy against all earnings above $624 a year.

He said, however, that this might involve "flattening out" the surtax brackets above the very lowest income classes. Other members interpreted this as meaning an increase in the rates paid by persons with net incomes of around $2,000 a year and up.

As the bill now stands, the first dollar of taxable net income would be assessed 6 per cent normal and 13 per cent surtax, a total of 19. This rate would not increase until the income reached the $2,000 to $8,000 range.

Rubber Miracle Seems Possible

U. S. Will Be Producing Million Tons Within 13 Months, Dr. Elder of W. P. B. Informs Chemists

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—The war miracle which scientists doubted, synthetic rubber production at the rate of 1,000,000 tons a year by the end of 1943, promises to become a reality.

The figures on production of butadiene, announced to the American Chemical Society yesterday by Dr. Albert L. Elder, of the War Production Board, showed that 13 months from now the United States will be producing butadiene rubber at about a 1,000,000 tons per year rate.

Furthermore, that much production is scheduled to come in at least two months before 1943 ends. There is some confusion over two points, one that the 1,000,000 is short tons, that is, the usual 2,000 pound American ton. Before the war it was customary to speak of natural rubber in long tons, 2,240 pounds each. But since the war, rubber chemists here declared the two kinds of figures have been used indiscriminately in semi-official reports. The million tons would be about 850,000 long tons.

The other point is a widespread report among chemists that when butadiene and styrene are added to make synthetic rubber, there is a loss or shrinkage. The loss is a little butadiene, which can be recovered by a rerun, but in any event the leading rubber chemists here said that it is not enough to affect the nearly million ton total. An important recent step is the speed with which synthetic rubber can be made, once the butadiene and the styrene are added to it are produced. The time is only a few hours.

The buna rubber which will be made under the butadiene program is composed of three quarters butadiene and one quarter styrene. The chemists have been worrying only about the butadiene problem, because that is a product to which American industry was almost wholly unaccustomed, while styrene has been made here for years.

For that reason, the butadiene production figures announced here answered the big question, whether America could make the rubber in time. The production of butadiene in the present program alone is set to reach completion with 717,800 tons a year rate in October, 1943.

Few ever thought that could be done. A butadiene plant costs as much as a battleship. It can be built in a year or sometimes considerably less. But, being new to American industry, the drawing board stage took a long time, sometimes up to 5 or 6 months.

Where Soviet-Jap Tension Rises

Japan was reported asking Russia for wartime stewardship of the diagonally-shaped area—the northern half of Sakhalin Island and the Siberian maritime provinces including Kamchatka peninsula—a request the Kremlin was said to have turned down. Heavily shaded areas are Japanese-held. Diplomatic circles in Chungking predicted war between Japan and Russia momentarily as a result of the tension over Nipponese demands.

More Junk Needed Now

Kingston's city-wide roundup of scrap which will get underway on Saturday of this week and continue until Tuesday next will afford an activity in which all civilians can perform a job of the utmost value.

The salvaging of scrap is a job for every man, woman and child in this city. We must dig and dig deep in the "mine above the ground," the rich reserve of junk which we have accumulated through the years. Our mining operations may determine whether and how soon we will win the war.

Every householder is urged to make a thorough search for scrap metals, rubber, rags and magazines and when gathered place them on the front steps of your homes. The material will be collected by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the pupils from the schools of the city.

The production capacity of American factories is greater now than the raw material supply and every pound of scrap now will help save lives later.

If we can get the scrap accumulated now before the snow flies and buries it, it can be sorted and shipped steadily thereafter to insure full steel capacity through the remainder of this year and the winter months of next year.

It is probably true that this nation as yet has hardly touched the surface of the scrap metal that is needed, and can be found, for war material. The alternative is cold furnaces, slackened production and delayed victory. It is not a new story, but the newspapers have undertaken to carry the message again to the American public and plead for more vigorous action and greater returns.

One of the bright spots in the picture is the effort of the Omaha World-Herald, which is credited with producing 70,000 tons of scrap in three weeks. But even more satisfying than such a collection, at least morally, is the wave of true patriotism and devotion aroused by the effort.

A woman proudly contributed the metal toys of her son, dead for 20 years. The widow of a World War veteran gave a shell casing he brought home from France. There was a big movie show for children, in which the entrance fee was five pounds of scrap—and how it poured into that theatre! Ice boxes and pianos were given by the dozen. The railroads took it up and made a great contribution. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls and scores of organizations did their part. An old bridge was raised from the river and added to the pile.

Still millions of contributions are needed, and there is an unrepaid harvest of metallic junk in every community. Why let it go unused? All this stuff must be rounded up and thrown from the cannon's mouth at Hitler and Hirohito.

U. S. Navy Gives Individual Honors To Fischers, Former Local Residents

Anton Otto Fischer and his wife, Mary Sigbee Fischer, formerly of Kingston, but now living in Woodstock, have each received notice of individual honors from the United States Navy.

Mr. Fischer has been offered a commission, honorary or active as he chooses, in the United States Coast Guard, and Mrs. Fischer has been designated by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, as sponsor of the U.S.S. Sigbee, named in honor of her father, the late Rear Admiral Charles Dwight Sigbee, U.S.N. Admiral Sigbee was in command of the Maine when it was blown up just before the outbreak of the Spanish-American War. The Sigbee will be launched at Kearny, N. J., on January 2, 1943.

A.M.A. Will Take Weekly Carloads Of Ulster Apples

Requests for Allocations of Cars Must Be Sent to Farm Bureau; Prices Listed

The Agricultural Marketing Administration will take 10 carloads a week of Ulster county apples, beginning September 14 and continuing until further notice, according to a letter received this morning by Cyril G. Small, assistant Farm Bureau agent. The cars will be allotted according to requests received by a committee representing the growers. The committee is composed of Walter Clarke, Milton; Leslie Herring, Ulster Park; Arthur Kurtz, New Paltz; and Gerow Schoonmaker, Walkkill.

This is the same committee which has functioned during the past two years. Requests for allocation of cars must be in the Farm Bureau office by Monday night of the week preceding shipment, except for the shipment the first week, starting September 14, for which requests should be made as soon as possible. All shipments will be inspected by a state inspector, at the cars and must meet the specifications established by the Marketing Administration which provide that:

Apples must be U. S. Grade No. 1, minimum size 2 1/2 inches. Varieties: Wealthy, McIntosh, Cortland, Delicious, Jonathan. Price to be paid: $1.25 per Eastern Apple Box, jumble pack, or $1.25 per standard bushel basket, ring faced. The apple boxes hold from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 bushels, according to whether they are new boxes, or old ones being reused. However, it is said that there is not a great deal of difference in actual contents between the baskets and boxes.

Ulster county growers must bring their apples to the shipping points, either at Modena or Milton.

Standard loading per car is 325 boxes or 528 baskets.

Mr. Small said that the apples are being purchased by the Marketing Administration for free distribution to schools throughout the country which have lunch programs.

Two years ago the government took something like 170 carloads of Ulster county apples, it is stated.

Hull's Report Says Any Axis Occupation Would Harm United Nations

R. A. F. Warplanes Are Said to Have Raided Akyab

(By The Associated Press)

The state department announced today that Great Britain, with the full approval of the United States, had decided to undertake "further military operations" in the Madagascar area.

Pointing out that the penetration or occupation of any part of Madagascar by the Axis powers would constitute a defined and serious danger to the United Nations, the announcement added:

"The full military occupation of the island by British forces will therefore not only contribute to the successful conduct of the war against the Axis forces but will be in the interest of the United Nations."

Madagascar, a big island off the east coast of Africa, is a French possession.

The British some weeks ago took over the port of Diego Suarez in the northern part of the island.

The announcement explained that developments in Madagascar subsequent to the British occupation of Diego Suarez "have not resulted in adequate safeguards against Axis penetration in other parts of the island."

German broadcasts quoted dispatches from Vichy today saying that strong British forces attacked several harbors on Madagascar this morning after a landing attempt by Gen. DeGaulle's French forces failed two days ago.

In London Prime Minister Churchill indirectly warned Japan today against thrusting her invasion tentacles into India, declaring that "large reinforcements have reached India and the number of white soldiers now in India is larger than at any time in the British connection."

The British war leader said Britain intended to preserve order among India's rebellious elements by all necessary measures, so that the allies could "defend the soil of India from the Japanese."

Charging that widespread Japanese fifth-column activity may have inspired the All-India Congress party's campaign for immediate independence, Churchill declared:

"It is noteworthy, for instance, that communications of Indian forces defending Bengal and on the Assam frontier have been especially attacked."

Bengal and Assam provinces both adjoin Japanese-conquered Burma.

R.A.F. warplanes continued to pound the enemy in Burma. A British communiqué said, attacking supplies and shipping in the Japanese-occupied harbor of Akyab, not far below the Indian frontier on the Bay of Bengal.

Churchill told Parliament in London that despite the riots and bloodshed in India, in which nearly 500 persons have been killed in the last four weeks, the situation was improving and was, "on the whole, reassuring."

In the southwest Pacific, outflanked Allied troops fell back in the towering Owen Stanley mountains in New Guinea as Japanese columns drove across the 8,000-foot summit and pushed down the opposite slope with 44 airplane miles of Port Moresby.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, acknowledging the setback, said Australian troops were battling gallantly to halt the enemy advance along a narrow, jungle-bordered trail crossing a series of ridges which still lie between the invaders and their goal.

In Japanese hands, Port Moresby would be an important base for short-range bombing attacks on Australia and a potential springboard for an outright invasion attempt.

A United Nations communiqué said the Japanese outflanked Australian positions at Myittha in their drive up the precipitous mountains, pushed through a pass and again outflanked defenses at Elogi on the other side of the summit, 12 miles nearer Port Moresby.

This meant that the invaders had conquered the most formidable part of the mountain barrier

Fined $20 Here For Violation of Insurance Law

Robert O. Strahlendorf of 21 Van Deusen street, charged with collecting unemployment benefits while engaged at work, was fined $20 when he was arraigned before Special City Judge Daniel Hoffman at noon on Wednesday. The hearing had been set for 10 o'clock that morning and when Mr. Strahlendorf did not appear the police were instructed to pick him up. Later in the morning Strahlendorf appeared voluntarily in police court.

Leo G. Rosenfeld, an assistant attorney general of Albany appeared in court to press the charge. The warrant for Strahlendorf's arrest had been sworn out by Joseph Mahar of the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance at the Kingston office.

Hart Asks Sportsmen To Assist Farmers

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 10 (AP)—William Hart, chairman of the governor's investigating committee on fish and game, proposed today that Connecticut sportsmen prove themselves good sports, and at the same time pay a debt, by helping farmers with the harvest.

Noting the serious shortage of farm labor, Hart said: "For years we have enjoyed the hospitality of many of the farmers of the state. We have fished their streams and hunted on their grounds. Good sportsmen like to pay their debts and here is a definite way of saying 'thank you' for past favors."

"I urge the sportsmen of the state to organize in small groups of four or five and to go out on week-ends or on their day off and help to harvest the apple and peach crops."

Concerns Accused Of Nazi Conspiracy In Making Plastics

DuPont, Rohm and Haas Company Are Indicted by Federal Jury on Restraint Counts

Newark, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company of Wilmington, Del., and Rohm and Haas Company of Bristol, Pa., were accused by the federal government today of conspiring with a German corporation to suppress competition in the manufacture of a plastic vital to construction of warplanes.

An indictment returned here by a federal grand jury August 10 but kept secret until today, the firms were accused of entering into a conspiracy in restraint of interstate and foreign trade in acrylic products. These are used to make the transparent noses of bombers, cockpit hoods and machine gun turrets.

Named with them, but not made a defendant, was Rohm and Haas, GmbH identified as a corporation organized and operating under the German Reich. The combination was alleged to have been formed October 30, 1934, and to have continued until the present.

The two American corporations and three others also were indicted on a charge of conspiracy to restrain trade in "methyl methacrylate," a new plastic material used to make dentures, the plates holding false teeth.

Eight company officials were also indicted in the acrylic case and 12 in the latter.

Greater Part of U. S. Steel Output Goes to War Needs

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—More than three-fourths of the nation's monthly steel output of 5,300,000 tons is now going into direct war use and the rest into such essential industries as railroads and machinery manufacture, the War Production Board disclosed today.

This war and essential-industry channeling of steel was emphasized by a report from David F. Austin, acting chief of W.P.B.'s iron and steel branch, that four-fifths of it was being delivered on priority ratings of A-1-A or higher.

The 5,300,000 tons a month now being delivered represents finished steel products, a reduction of approximately 30 per cent from ingot production of more than 7,000,000 tons. The residue goes back into the furnaces in the form of scrap.

The W.P.B. gave this report on where some of the finished steel goes:

Tanks—"It takes about 38 tons of steel to make a medium tank and the United States is turning out a lot of them."

Ship—"Present goals are for 8,000 tons of dead-weight shipping this year and 16,000,000 tons in 1943. Each cargo ship of the Liberty type now being made in quantity under direction of the maritime commission calls for approximately 4,500 tons of rough steel."

Current production is around 70 ships a month.

Guns—"Some of our anti-aircraft guns use up 14 tons of steel each; thousands of rifles, machine guns, anti-tank guns and Howitzers use steel, all the way up to the giant 16-inchers that take 576 tons of steel each."

Also, the W.P.B. noted, "it takes half a ton of steel to make one of the 2,000-pound bombs the British have been dumping on German cities lately."

The W.P.B. reported that current production far exceeded that of the Axis nations, including the German-controlled countries of Europe. It placed Axis steel production in 1941 at approximately 74,000,000 ingot tons, and declared the United Nations last year controlled more than 65 per cent of the world's output.

Soviet command reported the slaughter of more than 1,000 Germans but acknowledged that the invaders "broke into the northwestern outskirts" of Novorossisk, Russian Black Sea naval base, which the Nazis claimed to have captured Sunday.

In the central Caucasus, the Russians declared they had wiped out several German crossings of the Terek river, about 50 miles north of the Grozny oil fields, and driven the enemy survivors back to the river's edge in some places.

Two companies of Soviet Alpine troops trapped a force of Germans advancing through a valley, dispatches to Red Star said, and mowed them down with machine-guns and automatic rifles.

While Russian soldiers battled to save their homeland, Soviet warplanes kept the Allied aerial offensive in Europe rolling by attacks on eastern Germany and the Hungarian capital of Budapest.

A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said Berlin also had a small-scale raid during the night—presumably carried out by Soviet bombers—but Nazi broadcasts made no mention of such an attack.

The R. A. F.'s only night activity reported by the British air ministry was an attack on a German convoy off the Dutch coast, in which a large ship was left in flames. No German planes raided the British Isles.

On the Egyptian battlefield, British G. H. Q. reported that British mobile columns and artillery clashed with small forces of Axis tanks in the southern sector of the El Alamein line, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

The Italian high command reported "no important fighting" as the two desert armies still rested from the fatigue of last week's battles.

Pest May Yield Rubber

Trees growing wild in the Aramac district of Australia could yield a plentiful supply of rubber and yet are being wholly neglected, it is reported in Sydney, Australia. They send out thick patches of trailers which have become a pest. The trees yield a milky fluid which solidifies into a rubber-like substance when cooked. Those living in the district believe that the substance will make a fairly good substitute for rubber and are urging the government to initiate experiments.

Britain will ban the shipping of race horses by rail.

ALLEGED ESPIONAGE LAW VIOLATOR

Johannes Kroeger (left), 44, of Amityville, N. Y., accompanied by Assistant U. S. Attorney James D. Saver, leaves Federal Court in Brooklyn, N. Y., after being arraigned on a charge of an alleged violation of the war-time espionage law. Kroeger pleaded innocent and was held in $25,000 bail. P. E. Foxworth, assistant director of the FBI, said that Kroeger was charged with having transmitted to Germany information on the production and distribution of aircraft in the U. S., as well as shipping information.

Proclamation

Mayor William F. Edelmuth has issued the following Jewish New Year's statement:

As mayor of the city of Kingston, and personally, I want to wish a Happy New Year to the Jews of Kingston on the occasion of their observance of Rosh Hashonah.

The Jews of this community have always been loyal citizens of the United States partaking fully in every worthwhile endeavor, communal, state, and national. I know that I speak for all Americans who believe in the democratic principle of the dignity of man when I say that the entire community of Kingston joins with its Jewish brethren in feeling a sense of sorrow at the barbarous treatment of Jews in Germany and all Nazi dominated lands. But tragedy is not unknown to Jewry, and as the five-thousand seven-hundred-and-third anniversary of the Jewish New Year is celebrated, Jewry looks to the future—as do all Americans—certain in the belief that Hitlerism is a passing phase in world history.

I cannot conclude this brief greeting without expressing a special word of cheer and hope to the thousands of Jewish mothers who this year are separated from their sons on the solemn holy day of Rosh Hashonah. Jews, like all other Americans, have answered the call to colors and are battling on far flung fronts so that a free world may survive. May the coming year bring victory to the United Nations, and a speedy reunion of families.

WILLIAM F. EDELMUTH,
Mayor of Kingston.

Draft Hits Shoe Trade

Britain's shoe trade is suffering from extreme dislocation as a result of the number of men and women called for military and other compulsory service from the leather footwear industry. It is believed by heads of the industry in London that few men under 40 will be deferred and that it will be difficult to retain unmarried women operatives between 20 and 25 years of age. Advisory panels of employers and operatives held to consider labor problems caused by the concentration of industry have not been particularly effective.

Wide World Features

After suffering some staggering blows in his tussle last year with General Weather, Hitler has this year turned south for his operations. The freeze period in the Stalingrad area comes late in October, but south of the Crimea and in the rich oil areas of the Caucasus the average mean temperature even in January stands above the freezing point. On the west coast of the Caspian Sea, scene of current Nazi operations, rainfall is heaviest during the winter, however.

New York Peach Crop Seen Ready for Use

Albany, N. Y. — The strong marketward movement of late Elberta peaches in the New York Finger Lakes Region, and in the Lake Erie and Lake Ontario sections is in full swing. Early maturity during the warm weather of late August has speeded up ripening and a short but intensive marketing season is anticipated. The last opportunity of the season to secure this delicious state-grown fruit for home canning will be at its best during the next few days, according to a federal-state report issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Heaviest peach production is in Niagara county, which has more than a third of the trees in the state. The trees are heavily loaded. Orleans, Monroe, Wayne, and Chautauque counties in western New York also have abundant crops, while irregular yields, ranging from light to heavy, are characteristic of the crop in Ontario, Yates, Seneca, Tompkins, and Schuyler counties in the Finger Lakes Region. In the Hudson valley, only the lower counties had crops that could be rated as fairly abundant, and these have mostly been picked and sold. Winter-killing and spring frosts destroyed many of the fruit buds in the upper part of the valley. Outside the commercial peach sections there have been many crop failures.

As with many perishable crops having a short season for harvest, the availability of necessary labor and of transportation facilities are important factors. Peach growers in western New York have been planning for a long time to meet these situations and have been working closely with employment, educational, and agricultural organizations to mobilize the necessary army of workers, and to bring about a complete harvest with the minimum of loss. Barring extreme weather conditions, this coordination of effort should be successful.

The harvest of apples, including McIntosh which require especially careful handling because of their tenderness and ease of bruising, is now on. Here again, there is much public activity in helping to mobilize and coordinate workers for gathering this major fruit crop. The wide number of apple varieties prolongs the harvest season as compared to peaches, while storing the fruit as it comes from the orchard extends the marketing period through the winter months. Nevertheless, prompt and energetic action at picking time is imperative. A heavy apple crop in the Hudson valley and excellent crops elsewhere make the safe and timely gathering of this crop a major enterprise.

Remove Carrot Tops Before Transportation

Ithaca, N. Y. — "Why ship carloads of garbage across the country while we are suffering from a real shortage of transportation?" asks Professor H. C. Thompson of the New York State College of Agriculture.

He points out that three times as many carrots could be shipped in a refrigerator car if the tops were removed in the field or at the shipping point. He also cites experiments proving that the housewife would receive carrots of better appearance and higher food value if the tops are cut off. During transit and marketing some of the nutrients move from the roots into the tops.

Removing the tops from carrots is recommended by Professor Thompson as one of the few measures which calls for no sacrifices on the part of any one. Growers and shippers would profit from lower handling costs, the consumer would get a better product, and changes in handling methods would result in saving of packaging material and space in refrigerator cars, he points out.

To distinguish fresh carrots from stored ones, examine the tips of the root, Prof. Thompson suggests. If they are fresh and crisp it is a sign that the carrots are really fresh ones. For further identification two to three inches of the tops might be left on the carrots.

TEACHING IN IRISH HIT
Teaching through Irish in the schools of Eire was hotly attacked and defended in the Senate recently. T. Derrig, Minister of Education, denied that children in slum areas of Dublin were suffering from repression and physical and mental strain, as had been suggested in a report on an inquiry made by teachers. He held that Irish must be taught as a matter of national policy. The odds against Irish, he said, were great, because the cinema, radio and the newspapers were Anglicizing agencies.

X-RAY COSTS FOUR CENTS
Two hundred persons can be X-rayed in an hour at a cost of four cents each by miniature radiography, it is announced at the Health Ministry in London. Instead of casting a life-size shadow of the lungs on a film, the X-rays form the image on a fluorescent screen, which glows where the rays strike it. The screen is photographed on miniature film, which is examined through an enlarger. The patient rests his chest against a panel and holds his breath for a moment while the operator presses a remote control button.

Teacher—There's a direct and an indirect taxation. Give me an example of indirect taxation.

Junior—The dog tax.

Teacher—How is that?

Junior—The dog does not have to pay it.

Pat, a private who boasted of absolute fearlessness, was scheduled for night sentry duty. He overheard two officers planning to "scare the daylights" out of him.

One was to dress up like Satan and accost him on his lonely vigil.

Came night, and a fearful figure approached the sentry:

Pat (challenging)—Who's there?

Voice (rumbling, sepulchral)—The Devil.

Pat—Pass Devil, you know where to go.

The job applicant laid out an imposing number of letters of recommendation. The personnel manager looked them over:

Personnel Manager—You have a great many letters here but they're all from ministers. We don't work on Sundays at this plant, and I'd like to get some references from someone who sees you on week days.

Cost of this war....Too many of us reckon the cost of this war in dollars and cents, forgetting those who are paying for it with their lives....To a certain extent this attitude is understandable since the government is constantly emphasizing the billions it has appropriated for war....But it's a question whether the government in endeavoring to impress the enemy with its financial might, is not also misleading the folks at home....The real cost of this war ultimately must be reckoned in human life, not dollars....

Customer—Do you have animal crackers?

Salesman—Here, boy, show this gentleman the dog biscuits.

Judge to Install 40 and 8 Officers

County Society Will Meet at Hotel Eichler for Annual Rites

PELHAM ST. G. BISSELL

Kingston has been chosen by Ulster's La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Cheveaux, Voiture 381, as its gathering place for the installation of the newly elected officers. Voyageurs from the entire county as well as distinguished guests who will journey to Kingston for the occasion from distant places will witness the installation ceremony which is always a highlight in the "40 and 8" ritual.

The voyageurs have chosen the Hotel Eichler in Kingston as their place of gathering on Saturday, September 12 at 8 p. m., where a specially arranged dinner will be served and a bill of entertainment provided. The serious phase of the evening will be taken over by the installing master, Pelham St. G. Bissell, justice of the Municipal Courts of New York.

Justice Bissell is active in Legion matters, was chef-de-chemin-de-fer, passe, is the exalted ruler of Elks of the New York Lodge. Besides his colorful career on the bench, Justice Bissell has had an enviable military career. He served in the World War I with the 77th Division in the A.E.F., and also participated with this division in Baccarat sector, Vesle sector, Oise-Aisne offensive and Meuse-Argonne offensive. After being honorably discharged he was commissioned as captain of infantry reserve.

Guests expected to be present include William H. LeMon, grand chemist of the Ninth district; Carl Jurgens, chef-de-gare of Orange county; Zach D'Jimas, chemist nationale, passe; Hon. Louis DeHoyas, mayor of Monticello; Gus S. Paulson, grand chemist of Third Judicial District; Tubby Washington, postmaster of Monticello, and Thomas F. Dugan, past state treasurer of "40 and 8."

The following newly elected officers will be installed by Justice Bissell, chef de gare, Herman I. DuBois, chef de train, Justin Bell, correspondent, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., conducteur, John Ludlow, com. intendant, Eugene P. MacConnell, garde de la porte, James G. Norton, comm. voyageur, Jack Lowther, lampiste, Ernest W. Croonquist, aumonier, Meyer Kaplan, medecine, Dr. Mortimer Dawson, historian, Nathan G. Markson, advocate, Stanley H. Dempsey, chemist, Harry Kirchner, Vincent Chanon, Sam Bowden.

To assure the success of this event, the following will serve as the committee on arrangements: Michael Bruno, Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., and Gus S. Paulson.

Shandaken Nursing Committee Meeting

The first meeting of the fall of the town of Shandaken nursing committee was held on Friday last. Mrs. William Cruickshank, president, presided.

The meeting was held on the lawn of the home of the vice president, Mrs. R. S. Sherratt, amidst the beautiful flower garden. The president gave a stimulating talk on the work of the clinic, the good it had accomplished in the past and what was hoped for in the future, with the co-operation and renewed energies of the officers and chairman.

Clinic day, which is always on the third Thursday in the month, will now be open from two until four instead of from one to three as in the past. This change was made after due consideration and it is hoped that more of the mothers with children will avail themselves of the opportunity of coming in by bus from Phenicia, Mt. Tremper, Chichester, etc.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Sept. 8 — Doris Reese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reese, was the winner of the pony, given by the Marlborough-Record to the girl or boy in Marlborough or Milton who sold the most subscriptions for a given space of time. The runner-up was Betty Clark, who was presented with a $25 war bond. The pony, whose name was Buddy, has been re-named Ginger. Ceremonies were held in front of the Samuel Hewitt hardware store on Main street Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The judges for the contest were Francis Kaley, Milton; Wilbur Haviland of Marlborough; and Edward L. Dalby and Mr. Marona both of Marlborough.

Vincent L. Downer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Downer of the Latintown road, was graduated last week from the field artillery officers' candidate school in Fort Sill, Okla. and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the army of the United States. He has been assigned to Camp Hood, Tex. Lieutenant Downer is a graduate of the Marlborough Central High School and was a student at Ithaca College. He was inducted in July, 1941.

Mrs. Michael Troyano of Marlborough received a telegram the past week from her son, Private Joseph Troyano telling of his safe arrival in Great Britain, and also he sent birthday greetings to his sister, Rose. Private Troyano entered the service in January, 1942, and is serving in the medical detachment with the 26th Infantry.

Dr. J. Boynton Scott, who has received his commission as first lieutenant in the U. S. Medical Corps, has been ordered to Barkley, Tex., for his training and will leave Marlborough September 14. Dr. Scott, who has been practicing in Marlborough the past four years, has closed his office on Church street and will enjoy a vacation with his wife and two small daughters until September 14.

When the local central school opened Wednesday, two new teachers were members of the faculty. Miss Eleanor Duffy, is high school English teacher and was graduated from the Good Council College, White Plains. She succeeds Harold McCourt, who has resigned and is to teach in a high school in Suffern. Miss Mietta Dzikowski of Newburgh, a graduate of New York University will replace Mrs. Kenneth Schoonmaker, the former Miss Elizabeth Schramm, who was married during the summer, as homemaker teacher.

The members of the Marlborough Civilian Defense Corps have received cards from Walter Baxter, deputy director of civilian defense, to report at the Marlborough Central School September 10, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock to receive their arm bands and identification cards from the sheriff of Ulster county and his staff. As this is the only opportunity which the members will have to receive their arm bands, Director Baxter has made a special request for all members to be present.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

The attention of local boards in New York state has been called to the vital need of safeguarding the labor problems of expanding war industries, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, state director of Selective Service reported yesterday.

In connection with a memorandum on the subject, distributed to all local boards, he stated:

"Without trespass upon the primary task of furnishing manpower to the armed forces, Selective Service has the equal responsibility of maintaining war industries at their highest peak of efficiency. In slightly lesser degree, we must maintain the services of civilian needs, such as food and clothing, and it can well be appreciated that these services must also share in supplying the needs of the army and navy."

"The human element is the major problem. Its problem is directly involved by the work of Selective Service. Since an occupational deferment cannot be determined by a mathematic equation, its grant may be one of the most difficult tasks with which a local board is faced. The correct classification will have a definite bearing upon the winning of the war."

General Brown said that expanding war industries have added greatly to the difficulty of occupational deferment. He said: "One industry shortens its suspensions and manages to produce one unit per day. It distinguishes itself and receives a pennant for efficiency. The army and navy spokesman makes a speech."

"What you have done, ladies (in increasing numbers) and gentlemen, is excellent, but what we want now are two units per day. The plant goes to work, considerable perspiration is shed, and the output goes up to two units per day. Another pennant and further encouragement: 'Now we want four units per day.'"

"That is the way it should be," General Brown stated, "and,

Issues Are Eliminated

Oklahoma City, Sept. 9 (AP)—Oklahoma's criminal court of appeals eliminated international issues today from the appeal of four Communists who were assessed the limit under the state's stiff criminal syndicalism law. realizing the situation, our local boards have been and are giving special consideration to the deferment of an employee of an expanding industry. The loss of a necessary man may have a serious effect upon the expansion demanded by the armed forces." The director explained that, in 1939, one New York state community had approximately 2,000 men engaged in the production of a certain war machine. Day before yesterday, there were 50,000 men and women making those machines in that community and the industry expects to increase its employment to 65,000 people. For nearly 1,000 employees secured and trained, one of the plants is losing 500 employees by induction, voluntary enlistment, and for other reasons. In a rapidly-expanding war industry, an employee who has worked only six months may be an old employee with considerable experience on a comparative basis. He may be a key man in that industry. "Women and over-age men must be found to take the places of replaceable employees eligible for military service. The replacement must, however, be guarded so the work of the industry will not be disrupted. The service of supply must be protected. The biggest army in the world cannot be defeated if it doesn't have the arms and ammunition, airplanes and tanks, clothing and food it needs," General Brown said.

Russians Still Hold Stalingrad Despite Terrific Battles

McIntosh Harvest Is One of Growers' Present Worries

This Variety of Apple Is About Half Total Crop of County; Prices None Too Good

The pressing problem just now in Ulster county apple orchards is the harvesting of McIntosh apples, which comprise something like half the total crop.

Mac's have reached maturity now and must be picked within a week or so at the most, other wise they become too ripe to store well and always, when they have reached the time when they should be harvested and it takes but little to loosen them, there is danger from wind that may cause the loss of a good share of the crop.

Some growers, who planned in advance to secure help in harvesting their Mac's, have all the pickers they need, Farm Bureau Manager Albert Kurdt said this morning, but others are far from being so fortunate at this critical period. In one orchard, near Wallkill, where 15 or 20 helpers are needed for the next few days but two or three have showed up so far, and several calls have come into the Farm Bureau office from growers who need from 15 to as many as 30 pickers during the next week or two at least.

There has not been much addition recently to the number of boys from New York city. A few new boys came up Monday and it was expected that a considerable number would put in an appearance Tuesday, but when Donald Munn, who is farm placement representative met the Day Line boat Tuesday afternoon none of them showed up.

It was said Wednesday afternoon that about 30 city boys who have been stopping at a place in New Paltz, where their board had been paid up to Thursday night this week, threatened to leave because of objection to the service and alleged insufficient food. The matter was straightened out, however, when the growers who are employing the boys agreed to take care of them during the remainder of their stay in Ulster county.

Mr. Kurdt said that where growers are paying piece rates for picking apples as much as 11 cents a bushel is being paid, which he said was a pretty good price, especially considering the condition of the apple market just now. Latest New York city quotations for Mac's were $1.25 to $1.75 a bushel for U. S. No. 1 apples, it was stated, which is low. Mr. Kurdt said that one well known Ulster county grower told him that he was having a cash outlay of 63 cents a bushel for picking, packing and handling Mac's from his orchard. This did not include growing costs or overhead charges. If these apples are sold in New York city there would be large additional costs, including transportation and commission payments, so that at $1.25 a bushel there would be very little if anything left for the grower.

Rev. W.R. Peckham Addresses Rotary

Pastor Points to Many Blessings in America

The Rev. William R. Peckham, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, gave a forceful address at the Rotary luncheon meeting held Wednesday noon at the Governor Clinton Hotel. He had as his topic "God Bless America."

In the course of his brief but eloquent discourse, the Rev. Mr. Peckham outlined the manifold blessings America enjoys and he expressed confidence that America would always look to the Almighty God for guidance.

Stressing the freedom of speech and religious worship, the land of equal opportunity for all and the abundance of natural resources and beauty in America, the speaker challenged their equal in any part of the world.

Harkening back to the founding forefathers and the men in the early history of our country, such as Franklin and Washington, he pointed to the illustrious background in God.

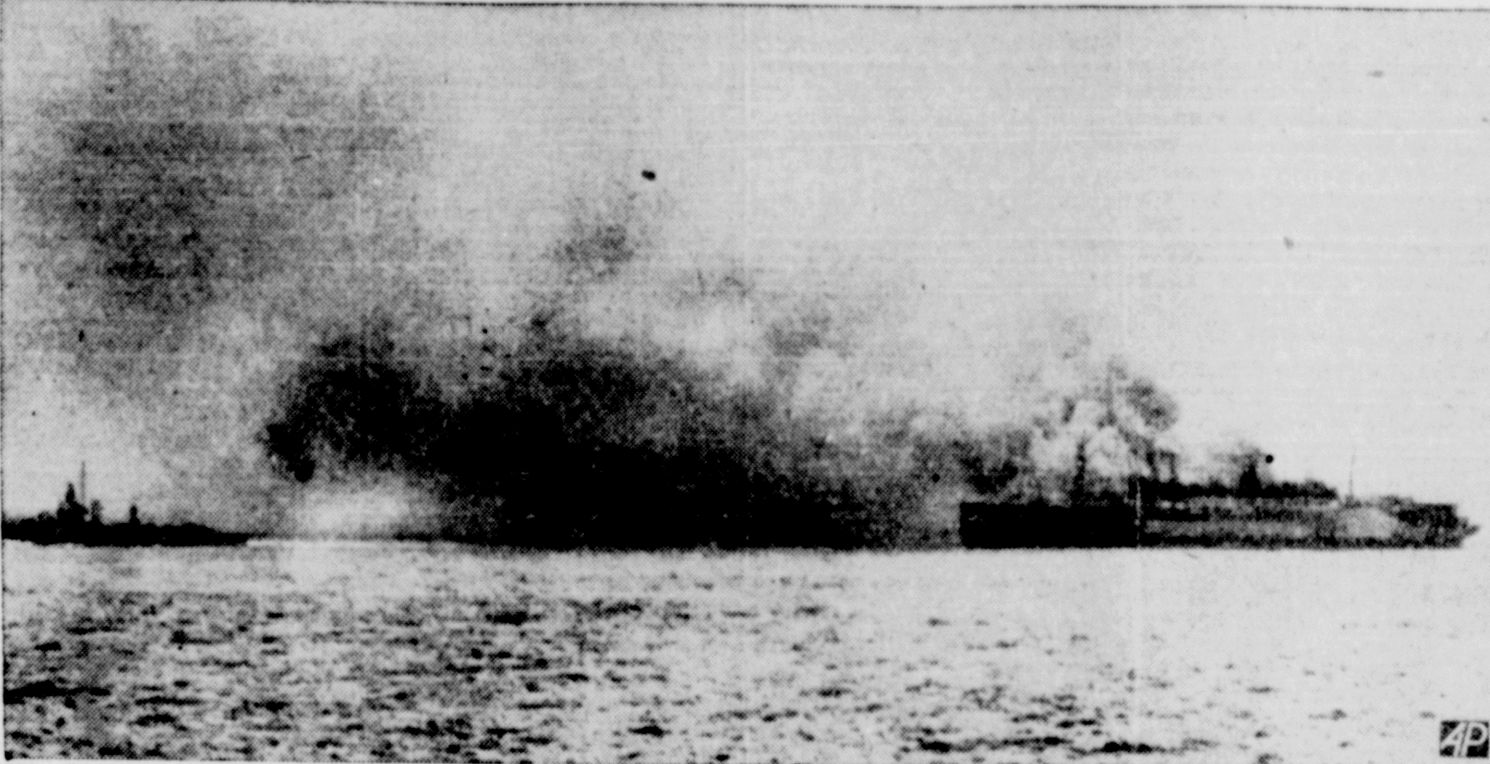

Freedom of speech was evidenced in the right of expression, although it would be better in many instances if silence was observed, he stated. On the passage of religious worship was not known elsewhere, he asserted.

The accomplishments of Edison and Lincoln were pointed out as examples of what equal opportunity for all means.

Reports from the men in the armed forces of our country of their attendances at services and their visits to the parsonage or church upon their return for furloughs were further indications that these men did not despair, but saw the light through the heavy war clouds.

Because of the gasoline shortage, all the 6,000 farm tractors in Finland have been seized and will be operated by the Government.

New Raspberry Named For Milton Community

Geneva, N. Y., — "Milton," a new variety of red raspberry originated on the grounds of the State Experiment Station here from a cross between Lloyd George and Newburgh, will be introduced this fall by the New York State Fruit Testing Association which cooperates with the station in the propagation and distribution of the new fruits developed by the station workers.

The new variety takes its name from a community in the Hudson valley near where the seedling was tested for resistance to mosaic over a period of seven years.

"The plants of Milton are vigorous, sucker freely, and appear to bear as good crops as other standard varieties, but comparative yield records have not been taken," says Prof. G. L. Slate, station small fruit specialist, who continues, "The canes are sturdy and need no support to bear the crop. Winter injury of the canes has been slight at Geneva and not serious in a test planting in the Hudson valley. In this test planting established at Milton in 1934 primarily to determine the susceptibility to mosaic of many varieties and unnamed selections, Milton remained free from mosaic during the seven years the test was continued, although many of the other varieties and selections were completely infected by the end of the second growing season."

The berries of Milton are large and resemble those of Taylor in size and shape. They are attractive, bright red in color, firm, not crumbling, mild subacid in flavor, and of good quality, being equal or superior to Taylor in that respect. Milton is a late variety, ripening two or three days later than Taylor or Latham, Milton compares favorably with other red raspberry varieties deemed suitable for freezing.

"Milton is being introduced as a probably mosaic-free late variety for trial for commercial planting and home use," says Professor Slate, adding that, "It appears to be superior to Taylor and Latham in not taking mosaic, and is harder than Marcy. It should be tested in a limited way until its merits have been determined in comparison with other standard varieties."

Four Hundred Jersey Parolees Are Serving in U. S. Armed Forces

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 10 (AP)—Four hundred young New Jersey parolees have been transformed into fighting men for Uncle Sam, and some have played hero roles on land and sea.

One died on Bataan, five were torpedoed but lived to put to sea again. Others won non-com's chevrons, still others were sent to officer training school.

Release of the parolees, who had been sentenced to reformatories or detention homes, began two years before the Court of Pardons last week paroled 31 first offender volunteers from the state prison on condition that some branch of the armed forces would accept them.

Parole Director John Colt, proud of the record made by the 400, said today only a handful had proved unsuited for military life, none had committed any serious infraction and many "have records of conspicuous merit."

Warwick, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—The "people raising our crops under difficulties of every kind of labor shortage" are entitled to protection by unlicensed watchdogs, a state Senate candidate believes.

Paul R. Jackson, Tuxedo, opened his Democratic campaign for Republican Thomas C. Desmond's 27th district seat with that expressed opinion.

Jackson said he would, if elected, propose a bill that every farmer or who lives far from police protection and every home where men have gone to war shall be allowed at least one watchdog for protection without paying a license fee.

A.H. Schoellkopf, 49, Dies in New York Hotel

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Alfred Hugo Schoellkopf, 49, president of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation and regarded as one of the outstanding utility figures in the country, died last night in the Hotel Carlyle. A native of Buffalo, N. Y., he served also as board chairman of the New York Power & Light Corporation and formerly was president of the Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corporation.

Schoellkopf, who had been associated with the Niagara Hudson system for the past 27 years, had been ill for several months.

He was head of the New York State Board of Social Welfare, president of the Welfare Council of New York city and at one time was chairman of the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration in New York state, succeeding Harry L. Hopkins.

He was a grandson of Jacob S. Schoellkopf, founder of the Niagara Falls Power Company.

He is survived by his wife, the former Virginia Partridge, and two daughters, Annette, and Joan.

QUAKE DIGS ODD HOLES

Queer funnel-shaped holes were left on the farm of J. Seymour, of Opiki, New Zealand, by a recent earthquake. Over half a mile area water and sand spouted from these holes. The water has gone, but the sand is still there. It is believed the sand came from a considerable depth, as holes made for water some time before the tremor did not reach sand until they were sunk 180 feet.

Paper Looms Important As Shortages Increase

Food From Paper Cans, Paper Tires, Clothes and Shoes in Realm of Possibility

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, Sept. 10 (Wide World)—Paper may provide an answer to some of the shortage of critical materials.

In civilian life, paper is giving new uses in these days of restrictions on such materials as steel, copper, tin, and rubber.

And as stockpiles of metals and other items become smaller, paper may yet substitute in the war effort.

That is the picture drawn by Arnold C. Schumacher, the Department of Commerce industrial specialist. Writing in "Domestic Commerce," an official publication of the department, he says:

"You have long been accustomed to writing on paper, drinking from paper cups, eating off paper plates and drying your hands with paper towels.

"But in the future you may be getting your food from paper cans, hanging your paper clothes on paper hangers, not to mention walking on paper shoes and riding on paper tires."

Some of these things may be a long time coming, but developments in use of wood pulp and improvements in manufacturing have brought paper a long way from the ancient days when it was used primarily to carry the written word.

"From the velvety softness of a fine cleansing tissue to the hard toughness of the strongest box-board, almost any degree of absorbency, moisture-proofness and resiliency can be built into the final material," Schumacher says.

"For use as an insulation wrapping around a copper wire, the product must be strong but pliable, must have a degree of elasticity in order to hug the wire tightly and must be soft enough to prevent injury to the workman's hands.

"This is a large order; but such a paper exists and is doing a valuable job in saving critical rubber needed elsewhere."

Fiber cans are being used to replace tin.

For instance, a leading paint manufacturer is using such containers to distribute its product. Similar cans are carrying ink to industrial users.

Many dairies now deliver milk and cream in heavily waxed paper cartons.

"Ingenious combinations of paper boxes with cellophane or parchment linings," Schumacher says, "make good wartime substitutes for shipping and preserving spices, cosmetics, tea, coffee and vegetable fats and oils."

Schumacher also reports progress in developing fiber cans to withstand heat under the high pressure needed in preparing hot foods and heavy paperboard discs with edges crimped and impregnated with threads are being used as caps for glass jars containing salad dressing, jellies and jams.

"An eastern firm is investigating the possibility of paper automobile tires and has conducted several encouraging experiments," Schumacher writes.

"A specially processed paper known as vulcanized fiber is being employed for making gears and other parts of heavy machinery, as well as trunks and luggage, where strength is a prerequisite."

"A myriad of future uses for this product are discernible, including floor coverings, furniture and many items in building construction."

"Paper buckets, pencils, ash trays, mailboxes, toothpaste tubes, ink wells and name plates may become a part of everyday living in the not too distant future."

Some of these developments, to be sure, may have to wait until after the war because they require special machinery and equipment which can't be obtained now.

Certain high grade tissues can't be manufactured at this time because necessary chemicals are restricted and use of some other paper products is under restriction, but where preservation of food is concerned, the war production board generally says "O. K."

So far as paper itself is concerned, W. P. B. men say there's a "very adequate supply." Transportation, of course, is another problem.

Merrill, Stanley Chosen

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Louis Merrill, New York city, was unanimously reelected president and John J. Stanley, an army private also of New York city, secretary-treasurer at the closing session yesterday of the United Office and Professional Workers' (C.I.O.) National Convention.

BEAR HOLDS UP DUKE

A black bear that tried to beat a train to a crossing somewhere between Kandy, ancient capital of Ceylon, and Trincomalee, halted the Duke of Gloucester's trip. It was a dead heat and a dead bear. The train pulled up so suddenly King George's brother was sharply roused from his slumber.

At Kandy he decorated Singapore officers and men with medals won in various war sectors.

Births Are High Deaths Also Increase

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Paralleling the highest July birth rate in 12 years—18 per 1,000 population—was a "fractional" increase in the month's New York deaths compared with a year ago.

The fatality increase to 10 per 1,000 was attributed today by the State Health Department to "markedly higher" heart disease and cancer deaths.

July fatality minimums were reported from tuberculosis, influenza and appendicitis. Pneumonia deaths equalled last year's record low for July.

Mrs. Luce to Give Keynote Speech At G.O.P. Parley

Connecticut Republicans to Select 7 Candidates at Hartford; Three Contests Ahead

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce of Greenwich, the widely-traveled author and seeker of a seat in Congress, will sound the keynote of the Connecticut Republican election campaign here tonight at the opening of the party's two-day state convention.

Meetings of Republican leaders were held yesterday and last night and pre-convention indications were that of the seven nominations to be made for the state ticket, three would be made only after floor contests.

Raymond E. Baldwin of Stratford, governor in 1939 and 1940, was expected to win the gubernatorial nomination with little ado, although Clifford B. Wilson of Weston, a former lieutenant-governor, announced earlier this week he had abandoned his fight for a congressional nomination and would oppose Baldwin.

Although William J. Pape, Waterbury newspaper publisher, is the only avowed candidate for lieutenant-governor thus far, it appeared that supporters would seek to place Representative William L. Hadden of Orange in the second position on the ticket.

Two women, Mrs. Frances Redick of Newington and Mrs. Alice Rues of Shelton, the only candidates for Secretary of State, appeared headed for a show-down on the convention floor. Another contest appeared certain before the nomination for state treasurer was made, with the leading candidates thus far being Michael D. McGovern of New Haven and Judge Sheldon B. Smith of Norwalk.

Mrs. Luce, wife of Henry Luce, the magazine publisher, will be the first woman keynote speaker in the history of the party in Connecticut. The Fourth District (Fairfield county) in which she seeks the Republican nomination for Congress will hold its convention next Monday.

Double Pay Ruled Out by President

Decree Encourages 1 Day of Rest; Hits Saturdays, Sundays, Holidays

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Payment of double-time rates for work on any particular day in the week such as Saturday, Sunday or holidays was discontinued today by a presidential order.

The decree, signed by President Roosevelt yesterday, was intended, the White House said, to encourage one day of rest in seven "in the interests of efficiency."

Double-time payment for work on a seventh consecutive day still is permissible under the order but not because it happens to fall on a week-end or holiday. "Thus the days of the week lose their identity for wage-determining purposes."

The decree did not affect the wage hour act provision allowing payment for work over 40 hours a week at the rate of time and a half.

It's absolutely vital that Hitler be kept out of the Middle East, for this is one of the chief keystones of the Allied structure. Naturally the great hope is that the Russians can hold him north of the Baku oil fields which lie at the southern end of the Caucasus.

That still is quite possible, and if it is done it's probable that the Nazi Fuehrer's gains in the northern Caucasus won't avail him much. As I remarked yesterday, he isn't likely to be able to cash in on the potential supplies during the winter, and by spring America and Britain should be able to swing into the offensive on a big scale, on one front or another.

Napanoch to Dedicate Community Honor Roll

What It Means

China's Stake in Indian Freedom

By JOHN GROVER

Considerable concern has been expressed in the capital over the possible morale effect on China of the current crisis in India.

The Chinese are vital to successful conduct of the war by the United Nations. It is not too much to say that any lessening of China's resistance would approach disaster.

There has been no indication whatsoever of Chinese defection. However, it is the consensus of many well-placed observers here that China watches developments in India with a careful eye. The visit of Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-shek to India at a time when China's own affairs were desperate attests the importance the Chinese attach to India.

The generalissimo's statement at Calcutta Feb. 21 that he "hopes and believes Britain, without waiting for any demand on the part of the Indian people will as speedily as possible give them real political power," is more than an indication of his sympathies. More recently the Chinese have tactfully suggested that the U. S. lend its good offices in the controversy, which shows a continued keen interest in the situation.

China has had her share of exploitation by outside powers. The extra-territorial rights of other nations before the war were hangovers from the day when China was the world's stepchild. It's unlikely that China's allies would ask, or the Chinese grant, a return of such privileges.

However, thoughtful persons reason that any evidence of a "Colonel Blimp" attitude in dealing with India would have adverse repercussions in a China that was so recently the grab-bag for greedy westerners. Such an attitude might well raise the speculation that the stupidity and intolerance that marked the "lesser breeds beyond the pale" era of colonial exploitation are not dead but dormant.

One thing is certain. Axis propagandists already have scored telling blows against the allies, by harping endlessly on the discrepancies between the "Four Freedoms" ideal and the failure to extend the fullness of the Four Freedoms to minority or subject racial and religious groups.

They told the Burmese—successfully, remember—that the Four Freedoms were hokey, asking, in effect, "Where are yours?" Burma was lost as much through defection of the Burmese as through military superiority. Sober advice from India indicate a similar line is making headway there.

Likewise, the Axis has a powerful sales talk to non-white nations in political repression of the American Negro in some southern states. That the Negro is widely denied the vote and freedom of action is a matter of world knowledge.

In AXIS hands, this is twisted into a damaging weapon. The Axis can and does challenge our honesty in urging political freedom abroad while denying it to an important minority at home. Broadcast interception records disclose that this is a favorite Nazi theme in attempting to divide the white and non-white allies.

The Chinese, right now, are keepers of United Nations destiny in Asia. The Japanese retreat in the coastal provinces, and the resignation of Foreign Minister Togo, indicate a move against Russia or India. In either case, Chinese manpower must implement the counter-blow.

That's why the handling of the Indian crisis is deemed so important by astute observers. They say it would be the veriest tragedy if the negotiations indicate that "Colonel Blimp" is in the saddle again.

A. C. Tozzer Dies

Scarsdale, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).—Arthur Clarence Tozzer, 63, building industry executive who supervised the construction of the $20,000,000 army supply base in Brooklyn during the first World War, died at his home yesterday following a long illness. Vice president and director of the Turner Construction Company, Tozzer was president of the Associated General Contractors of America in 1933. He served for many years as secretary of the Masters' League of Cement Workers of the Building Trades Employers Association and was recognized as an authority on labor relations in the building industry.

Frederick Barbarossa, the first reigning German king, was chosen in the Romer, Frankfurt's 500-year-old city hall.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not let this happen to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the unique (non-acid) powder, on your plate. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not stain. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Hi-Y Club Elects Officers for Year

MISS RUTH DURYEE

Meeting Tuesday evening for the first time since the new school term began, the Kingston Hi-Y Club elected a new slate of officers to conduct the affairs of the club for the coming year.

By a unanimous vote, Lewis Roosa was elected president; Thomas Gailley, vice-president; Joseph Murtha, secretary; and John McLaughlin, treasurer. The club meets each Monday evening at the Y.M.C.A. and is affiliated with the National Hi-Y movement that has over 200,000 members in its 6,750 clubs. The first Hi-Y club was organized by a high school science teacher at Chapman, Kansas, in 1889, and was created for the purpose of maintaining and extending throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character. The regular meeting will be next Monday night when the members will plan the program for the coming year. The first meeting for new members will be held September 21.

Backwardness Might Be

Due to Faulty Reading

If Johnny or Mary have difficulty with school work, don't decide immediately that they are not as bright as their playmates. It may be that they have not learned to read correctly.

From 10 to 20 per cent of the children in public schools have defects in reading. Dr. G. A. Yoakam, director of courses in elementary education at the University of Pittsburgh, says.

Because of this, many schools have corrective classes for backward children. Dr. Yoakam says, but explains that the tendency toward corrective classes has reached its height and, it is hoped, the new tendency is toward developing a program for prevention of reading difficulties.

Chief contributing causes of reading difficulties, Dr. Yoakam explains, are poor training in reading, poor vision, speech difficulties, defective hearing, and lack of opportunity and practice in reading.

He explains that absence from school in the early grades and transfer from one school to another in the first years of school are also contributing causes.

Director of the Remedial Reading Laboratory at Pitt, Dr. Yoakam says: "It has been our experience in the laboratory that most of the cases we meet, aside from those inferior in intelligence, have become disabled in reading because of preventive factors."

Jalopy Junk Joins Up

Mrs. Veronica Hruby, farm homemaker of east central Nebraska, sent this hint to the department of agriculture, telling how she converted to war work an old car body that had been cluttering up the yard for years. The Hrubys, who are rehabilitating their farm with a loan from the Farm Security Administration, hitched up the horse, dragged the car body to the garden and set it up as a framework for a hotbed. The top of the car body, an old model and practically all glass, gave the same effect as a greenhouse. A trap door in the roof provides ventilation. This spring the Hrubys transplanted more than 400 tomato plants from this makeshift hothouse. Every time Mrs. Hruby looks at her garden she smiles, she says, thinking of other seasons when she and her husband would have enlarged the garden "if only we had had a hotbed." "Now," she says, "we have one—from backyard junk."

Geography of Kerch Strait Followers of war news have watched closely since the mid-year fall of Kerch and Sevastopol for signs of a Nazi advance on the wealth of the Caucasus by action eastward from the Crimea across narrow Kerch strait to the Taman peninsula. This peninsula is the northwestern limit of the Caucasus mountain range. Able Russian resistance makes mass movement of men and modern heavy equipment imperative for invasion of the Caucasus. The geography of Kerch strait and the Taman peninsula makes such a mass troop movement extremely difficult, says a National Geographic society bulletin. The history of past invasions is repeated as the Germans drive for Rostov-on-the-Don as their gateway to Caucasus oil and manganese, thus seemingly recognizing as too difficult the jump from Crimea to Caucasus.

Daily Menus

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE Conserve For Later

Have eggs for nutrition 4 days or more weekly (possibly daily). Egg yolk is rich in iron, copper, phosphorus and calcium. Egg whites contain tissue-building materials.

Eggs can be served poached, scrambled, in omelets, in custards, creamed or in creamy desserts. An egg added to stuffings and filling steps up nutrition.

Dinner Menu Broiled Fish Lemon Quarters Buttered Potatoes Diced Beets Enriched Bread Butter Peach Pear Conserve Green Tomato Pickles Grapes Coffee

Peach Pear Conserve 2 cups sliced fresh pears 2 cups sliced peaches 1/4 cup lemon juice 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind 1 tablespoon orange rind 2 1/2 cups sugar 2 cups corn syrup 2/3 cup sliced blanched almonds

Mix fruits with juice, rinds and sugar. Mash well. Quickly bring to the boiling point and boil for 2 minutes. Stir constantly. Add syrup and boil gently 10 minutes or until a small portion jells when tested on a cold plate. Add the almonds and mix. Pour into sterilized jars, seal immediately.

Green Tomato Pickles 3 cups chopped green tomatoes 3 cups diced cucumbers (unpeeled)

3 cups chopped cabbage 1/2 cup chopped green pepper 2/3 cup sliced onions 2/3 cup salt 1 tablespoon celery seed 2 teaspoons dry mustard 1/4 cup horseradish 2 tablespoons white mustard

2 1/2 cups sugar 2/3 cup corn syrup 3/4 cups vinegar

Mix vegetables and salt and let stand overnight. Drain well. Add rest of ingredients. Cook slowly 25 minutes. Stir frequently. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal immediately.

Closed Saturday The Fad Beauty Salon at 63 Broadway will be closed Saturday, September 12, due to the holiday.

Good Taste Today

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Book of Social Usage," etc.)

SHE IS THOROUGHLY CHAPERONED

The situation of a woman whose status suddenly changes from that of professional employee or lodger to that of the heroine in a romance, usually runs into complications such as the one described in this letter:

"I am 23 years old, and for several years have been boarding with a family who have two other women roomers. We, three, are the only ones upstairs. Downstairs, their son and daughter live with their parents. So much for details. I have just become engaged to the son. His parents are lovely to me and tell everyone they are pleased; but we will not be married for several months. Since I have been living here right along do you think people will expect me to move elsewhere?"

Since you have been making your home with this family for a long time and his father and mother are living in the house it seems to me, that you are thoroughly chaperoned! People inclined to criticize would have been more likely to do so while he was courting you than now when your future in-laws have shown their approval of you.

Who Gives The Bride Away? Dear Mrs. Post: In your column some time ago you wrote something that has been bothering me. You described a bride who had no male relatives to give her away and who walked up the aisle with her fiancé's father! How could he do this? Walking up the aisle is one thing, but how can a future relative actually give her away? She still belongs to her own family, and the rites are still to be performed which will make her a member of the other family.

Answer: I think you must have read an incomplete answer. I remember the situation very well and that the bride's father-in-law walked with her, but her own mother gave her away by "bowing her consent" from the front pew.

A Wedding Out of Doors Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Does a bride's mother have to wear a hat at an afternoon wedding in the garden? (2) What about the bride's younger sisters who are not taking part in the wedding? (3) Also, what kind of wedding music is suitable for an outdoor wedding?

Answer: (1) Properly hats are always worn by all women at weddings; if not hats then head-dresses of some sort. A hat in a garden is even more of a requirement than in a house. (2) Hats would also be more suitable than bare heads, even on very young sisters. (3) First the wedding march and then the latest popular music—sweet rather than jazz.

No Wonder Soloist Is Confused Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to sing at a wedding, and am wearing an afternoon dress (ankle length). The bridesmaids will be wearing long dresses. The

New York Youths Are Aid to Farms In Various Ways

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 9 — New York farm youngsters are attacking wartime food supply problems by tending 20,000 "Victory Gardens," helping on farms and by studying methods of marketing farm produce more efficiently and economically.

This was reported today by Arthur J. Pratt, extension specialist in vegetable crops, Cornell University, in a survey of activities of farm boys and girls in the state. Pratt estimated the supply of short term help on the state's 153,000 farms to be less experienced than in previous years, and said the addition of rural boys and girls to labor ranks since the close of schools had helped keep crops on schedule.

Government reports show that total farm employment in New York—including women as well as boys and girls—was 290,000 on June 1, slightly above total employment on June 1, 1941, he pointed out.

"The effectiveness of these youngsters in helping to maintain food production stems in large measure from the programs of such organizations as the 4-H Clubs, the Future Farmers of America, and the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association," Pratt said. "Practically the entire membership of these three organizations in the state are employed on farms or in gardens."

Lido Club Is Taken Over

Asbury Park, N. J., Sept. 9 (AP)—The Third Naval District announced yesterday that it had taken over the fashionable Lido Club at Long Beach, N. Y. The Lido, the Navy said, would be used as a headquarters for the training of crews of vessels in service or about to be commissioned. Naval personnel will be trained in signaling, radio, gunnery and seamanship and between 2,500 and 3,000 men will undergo training there eventually, the Navy said. A staff of 30 officers headed by Capt. F. R. Lackey, U.S.N.R., and Lt. Cmdr. Daniel Drake-Smith, U.S.N.R., will be in charge.

YOUR FOOD — AND NUTRITION

The value of a well-balanced diet is shown in the fine physical condition of the men in our armed forces, for army meals have been planned according to the most advanced knowledge in the science of nutrition. The same degree of fitness is required of workers on the home front, if they are to do their work efficiently. It is the job of the homemaker to plan meals for her family as carefully as army meals are planned so that an adequate, satisfying and well-balanced diet is served every day.

Meat plays an important role in army meals, and it is equally valuable in the diet of all workers. Fortunately for the homemaker on a budget, the economy cuts are just as high in food value as any others and they are tender and tasty when cooked with care.

May Be Braised

Beef shanks may be cooked in water. Cover them with boiling water and cook at simmering temperature until they are done.

Because of their fine flavor, beef shanks are often used as seasoning for vegetables as individual pot-roasts, as pictured, they are braised. That is, they are browned in hot lard, then a small amount of liquid is added to the pan and they are covered tightly.

Good Fare for Cooler Days

Cooler days call for more substantial fare. In the above picture we see braised beef shanks and sauerkraut, a satisfying and nourishing main dish. Beef shanks are among the economy cuts of meat. They are fine in flavor and rich in food value. Serve fresh fruit as dessert or in place of the salad course.

Beef shanks on a bed of sauerkraut make a fine blend of flavors, as well as a well-balanced combination of food essentials. Beef shanks and noodles are another favorite combination for a hearty main dish.

Cross-cut Beef Shanks

For braising, have the beef shanks cut sufficiently thick so that each section makes a good individual serving.

Dredge shanks with flour and season with salt and pepper. Brown in hot lard. Add one cup water and allow to simmer about two hours, or until done. Add additional water as needed. Serve with sauerkraut.

Dumplings are also excellent companions for braised shanks.

Dumplings

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 to 1 cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add milk to make a stiff drop batter and mix. Drop by tablespoons on top of the braised shanks. Cover tightly and steam 12 to 15 minutes.

Homemakers who are looking for tempting ways to serve good, substantial foods will like this idea of using cross-cut beef shanks as individual pot-roasts.

Beef shanks are among the economy cuts. They contain a good proportion of meat, around the bone, and this meat is fine in flavor and rich in food value. Because it consists of muscle which has been exercised, this section needs to be cooked in moist heat, slowly and for a long time. Then the meat becomes deliciously tender.

Girls Replacing Men
In Milk Testing Jobs

Ithaca, N. Y. — Replacing the men taken by the armed forces, eight girls are now milk testing for New York dairy herd improvement associations, according to G. W. Talley of the animal husbandry department at the New York State College of Agriculture.

There is a serious shortage of milk testers in the state, he says. Girls and women with farm experience, boys under draft age, and those with physical handicaps, who cannot go into the army or defense plants, should all be investigated as possible prospects.

A two-week training school to be held September 14 to 26 is planned in each county. The course will include Babcock testing, D.H.I.A. records and their application, health, feeding and breeding. At the end of the school applicants must pass an examination for license in Babcock testing given by state inspectors before being approved for association work. No age limit is placed on the applicants otherwise qualified, and who are able to pass the examination, according to Mr. Talley.

Cost of the milk testing course will be a laboratory fee of $2 plus room and board which can be had for $8 to $12 a week. The wages paid to association supervisors are usually between $3 and $4 a day and board at the farm of the association member. All testing equipment and the supervisor furnishes his car for transportation and pays car expenses.

'Food' Is Theme
Of F.S.A. Drive,
Says Supervisor

"Food, Food, and More Food" is the war-time program of the Farm Security Administration, and all normal peace-time pursuits are retained or discarded only on their ability to lend aid in the tremendous task of feeding a warring nation, County FSA Supervisor Hammond said today.

"Our organization, from Washington right down to the office here in Ulster County, has been ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard to frame all its efforts during the coming year around the single central theme of increasing production of food and fiber," Mr. Hammond said, "and we aim to do just that in spite of reduced personnel and limited funds."

Farm Security, he pointed out, began to lay emphasis upon greater food production a full year ago, the first move made to expand national output. This year's program will be simply a further intensification of the drive begun six months before Pearl Harbor.

The Farm Security program this year, Mr. Hammond said, will aim at putting farmers who are not fully using all their land or manpower resources into high-gear production by making loans to provide the necessary feed, seed, fertilizer, and stock for maximum output. Increased attention to health of small farmers is also planned, he said, for the simple reason that maximum production is as hard to get from an ill man as it is from an unhealthy stock or poorly cared-for land.

To make sure that full output will be reached, he continued, Secretary Wickard has ordered FSA to work out food production goals for each borrower family in the county and to see that by careful supervision and technical advice those goals are reached. This will be carried out in closest cooperation with the County War Board, he pointed out.

number of farm units." "In short," Mr. Hammond said, "Farm Security is stripping for wartime action during the coming year and every move we make, every plan we formulate will be judged simply on its ability to contribute to our wartime supply of food."

Farm Income Gain In State Boosted By Dairy Industry

Two-Year Gain of 44 Per Cent Would Fall to New Record, U. S. Bureau Says

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—The two-year, 44 per cent increase in New York cash farm income for the first six months of 1942 promises to soar higher during the last half, due chiefly to the state's two billion dollar dairy industry.

The agricultural department reporting the great increase over 1940 and a 34 per cent hike over the first six months of last year, predicts a record movement in livestock and crops during the next few months.

The announcement follows President Roosevelt's plea to Congress for control of all farm prices including those for dairy products.

The cash income from state farm marketings during the first six months was listed by the department as $222,134,000, compared with $165,242,000 for the corresponding 1941 period and $133,368,000 for the parallel 1940 months.

The dairy industry—by sale of livestock and livestock products—contributed $165,172,000 of this year's total, the department added—more than the entire 1941 amount. The balance of $56,962,000 was received from crops.

New York's 34 per cent farm income increase over a year ago compared to a 32 per cent jump for the North Atlantic states.

The outlook nationally, the department added, is that "crop prospects are the best on record and output of livestock and livestock products is increasing in all areas."

President Roosevelt, in his congressional message, estimated prices received by farmers nationally have increased 85 per cent since the outbreak of war in September, 1939, and that cash farm income has jumped 75 per cent in that period.

Calling for prompt measures to check the rising cost of dairy products, the President warned "unless we are able to get control of butter, cheese and other dairy products in the very near future, the price of milk in large cities is certain to go up."

The British Government is now paying nearly $500,000 a year to keep down the price of food.

Six Million Chinese Killed in 5 Years

London, Sept. 10 (AP)—China has lost about 6,000,000 in killed and wounded against Japan's 2,500,000 in five years of war, Dr. George Yeh, London director of the Chinese information ministry, estimated today.

He put Chinese army strength now at roughly 13,000,000 men, but said that a 20 per cent higher harvest than in 1941 had averted any food problem. In the year up to last June, he said, the Chinese had fought 5,580 engagements.

Axis Sub Toll Rises to 462 as Freighter Is Sunk

(By The Associated Press) The Axis submarine toll of Allied and neutral vessels in the western Atlantic battle area rose to 462 today in the Associated Press count of announced sinkings since Pearl Harbor with naval disclosure of the torpedoing of a medium-sized British merchantman in the Caribbean.

It was the fourth torpedoing for Chief Officer George Crawford, 46, of the British ship who told interviewers at an east coast port that he was "getting used to it now." Two lost their lives while 43 others were saved.

The navy had announced yesterday the sinkings of an American merchantman and a Polish cargo carrier, both attacked off the South American coast. The British vessel went down in mid-August.

Navy Adopts Policy Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—The Navy adopted today a policy of not enlisting civilians who are in essential employment unless they are released by their draft boards.

Rear Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of Naval personnel, announced a working arrangement with the selective service system whereby "no man whom the local board continues in specified classifications will be enlisted in the Navy until released by his local draft board for such enlistment."

While the enemy pressed this new thrust in New Guinea, the U. S. Navy indicated that American forces had consolidated their positions in the southeast Solomon Islands and were beginning to lash out at Japanese bases farther up in the 840-mile long archipelago.

The navy said American warplanes bombed and strafed enemy troops in Gizo Island, 215 miles northwest of the U. S.-captured base on Guadalcanal Island.

Gizo lies more than halfway on the road to the Japanese-held base at Keta on Bougainville Island, in the northern Solomons.

Meanwhile, Gen. MacArthur disclosed that Allied forces had definitely sunk 25 Japanese warships and transports and destroyed 300 enemy planes in less than five months.

In addition, 41 other Japanese warships and transports were damaged and 177 enemy planes severely damaged or "probably destroyed," making an aerial toll of 477.

Enemy ships sunk included 3 cruisers, 1 aircraft carrier, 2 destroyers, 3 large submarines, 4 medium submarines and 12 transport or cargo ships.

The immediate authorization of an additional 140,000 tons of buna-S production per year.

Immediate institution of a refinery conversion program to yield 100,000 tons more of butadiene.

Immediate adjustment in rates of construction of present styrene and polymerization plants to promote maximum production of buna-S in 1943.

Construction of another plant for making 20,000 tons of neoprene annually.

Erection of a 27,000 ton butadiene plant to utilize grain and an associated polymerization plant to produce 30,000 tons of buna-S, both to be placed near the center of grain production and construction to be started six months hence.

Erection immediately of plants to produce 100,000 gallons of alcohol yearly by use of recently developed apparatus, these plants to be erected near grain producing areas and at places where water transportation is available.

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Stocks generally continued to stumble in today's market although the majority suffered only mild abrasions.

Light profit taking on the recent recovery received the principal blame for the inability of leaders to keep their balance. In addition, few buying incentives were discerned in the wake of the war, the tax muddle and the administration's anti-inflation campaign.

Hesitancy ruled the list at the start and, while there were scattered spots of resistance and numerous leaders were unchanged, fractional declines had the best of the argument near the fourth hour.

There were a few wider set-backs. Dealings on the whole were slow but lively low-priced issues again showed volume.

Bonds displayed selective strength. Most commodities were lower.

Among stocks inclined to softness were Postal Telegraph Preferred and Western Union, both of which have been making new tops for the year or longer. In arrears occasionally were U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Santa Fe, U. S. Rubber and Du Pont. Better performers included Anaconda, Kennecott, International Nickel and Electric Power & Light Preferred.

Fairly steady crop issues included Humble Oil, American Cyanamid, Pennrod, Pantry and Sunray Oil. Intermittent losers were Sherwin Williams, Niagara Hudson Power and Lake Shore.

Herbert Warkup, 20 Green street died Wednesday afternoon. Surviving is his wife, Mary Warkup; one sister, Mrs. Robert Taylor, of Bloomington; a niece, Mrs. J. Setera of Bloomington, and a nephew, Harold Taylor, of Utica. Friends may call at any time this evening and Friday at the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 256 Fair street. Funeral services private.

William H. H. Elwyn died at his home in Woodstock on Thursday, September 10, age 90 years. Mr. Elwyn was a blacksmith by trade and before retirement had operated a shop in Woodstock for many years. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Nellie Buelman of New York city, Mrs. Everett Roosa of Kingston and Mrs. George Reysolds of Woodstock, also three grandsons, Elwyn, Herman and Alton Roosa of Kingston, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Charles T. T. Kingston and Miss Alma Buelman of New York City. Funeral service, followed by interment, in Mt. Evergreen cemetery, Woodstock, on Saturday will be private.

Mrs. Harry Levinson, 70, died Wednesday morning in her home, 109 West Parmenter street, Newburgh, after an illness of three years. Born in Russia, she had lived in Newburgh for 35 years and was a member of the Sons of Israel Synagogue and the Daughters of Israel. Funeral services were held this afternoon in the home. Burial was in Sons of Israel cemetery, New Windsor, by Zillig Funeral Service. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Sidney Cohen of Florida, N. Y., and Mrs. George Weisman of Newburgh; two sons, Hyman of Kingston and Samuel Levinson of Newburgh; a sister, Mrs. Celia Salowich of New London, and six grandchildren.

The burial of Mrs. Agnes Bonesteel, who died suddenly Sunday afternoon, took place in the family plot in St. Ann's cemetery, Sawkill, yesterday morning following a requiem Mass in St. Joseph's church. The Mass was offered by the Rev. Edmund E. Burke, with the children's choir singing the responses. Mrs. Frank Rafferty presided at the organ. Scores of friends called at the Henry J. Bruck Home for Funerals, 27 Smith avenue, where Mrs. Bonesteel resided, to pay their last respects. Mass cards and floral tributes numbering several dozen were offered in memory of Mrs. Bonesteel, who held the admiration and affection of countless numbers of friends. The Rosary for her intention was recited by Father Burke on Tuesday evening with the assistance of the large group of mourners who were present. The Rev. John D. Simmons, who accompanied the cortege to Sawkill, imparted the final blessings at the grave.

The Immaculate Conception Church was well filled with mourners this morning attending the requiem high Mass for Mrs. Constance Buboltz, one of Kingston's oldest citizens who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frances Plotzky, last Monday.

Mrs. Buboltz was one of the first parishioners of the Immaculate Conception Church, and at the time of her death was the oldest surviving parishioner. The mother of eight children, Mrs. Buboltz had the further distinction of being grandmother to 37 grandchildren and great grandmother to 41, also four great, great grandchildren. The requiem was celebrated by the pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, the Rev. Stanislaus J. Malinowski who also recited the Rosary together with the Rosary Society at the home and at the grave imparted the final blessings. Music during the Mass was provided by the church organist, Miss Theresa Gehring, with the children's choir of the Immaculate Conception school singing the responses. A beloved character to the many people who knew her, countless numbers of people called at the home to offer a prayer for her intention. Floral tributes and Mass cards in abundance were placed near her casket. Among those who presented Mass cards were the Swint family, Mrs. Anna Buboltz, family; Mr. and Mrs.

Urgent Call for Women Volunteers by Red Cross

An urgent call for women volunteers to serve the public at the local hospitals in the capacity of nurses' aides is being made by the American Red Cross chapter and the Civilian Defense committee. Because so many of the nurses are now serving in war work, the need for extra help to do many of the tasks in caring for the patients is being felt at both the Kingston Hospital and the Benedictine Hospital. All members of last year's nurses' aides class are now sharing in this responsibility but still more help is needed.

Women who are able to devote 150 hours a year, who are between the ages of 18 and 45 and have a high school education, are urged to register for the course in Classes will start October 1 and will consist of a seven week course of 80 hours.

Registrations may be made at the American Red Cross room Monday between 1 and 3 p.m. Volunteers may also enroll at Volunteer Office, 247 Clinton avenue, telephone 1125.

Problem Is Complicated

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Rising congressional sentiment for a concrete wage formula and a new basis for farm parity prices today complicated the problems of administration leaders trying to meet President Roosevelt's October 1 deadline on legislation to hold down the cost of living.

Despite Senate Majority Leader Barkley's word that he hoped to pass the bill in the next three weeks, it was clear that numerous

Governor Hears Communist Charge Of Legion Activity

Unlawful 'Intimidation' Is Cited by Party in Bid to Keep Place on State Ballot

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—Governor Lehman heard charges today that the American Legion is employing "terrorism and oppression" in attempting to remove the Communist Party from New York's November 3 election ballot.

A committee of five Communist Party leaders, headed by Simon W. Gerson, state campaign manager, presented Lehman with what is termed evidence of unlawful "intimidation by Legionnaires and in some cases by local police authorities" of signers of the party's independent nominating petitions.

The governor had no immediate comment. Secretary of State Michael F. Walsh last week rejected an American Legion plea that the party's petition be thrown out, holding that no errors appeared on the face of them. The Legion obtained a State Supreme Court order, however, restraining him from placing the ticket on the ballot pending a hearing Monday in Schoharie.

The Legion contends the party did not obtain on the petitions 50 valid signatures from each county, as required by law, "without fraud, misrepresentation and concealment of the true purport of the petitions."

The party nominated a complete ticket headed by Israel Amter, New York city, for governor, but all except Amter and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, candidate for representative-at-large, withdrew.

The Communist delegation told Lehman the Legion was attempting to gain repudiation of its party petition signers in at least 20 counties but was most active in Saratoga and Columbia counties. They claimed this to be "violation of the letter and spirit of the election law."

Besides Gerson, those who appeared before the governor were Peter V. Carbone, New York city; Miss Flynn, Paul Croasbie, Queens county party chairman, and Gilbert Green, party state executive secretary.

Fire Cuts Transport

Transportation has slowed down gradually in Erie as fuel has become scarcer. The country's principal line, the Great Southern Railway, curtailed greatly both passenger and freight services in 1941. Many local trains were dispensed with and only one train a day was permitted in the campaign to save coal. Traffic increased heavily on Dublin buses, but services were reduced as it grew more difficult to get fuel oil. Almost all overseas shipping has come to a standstill.

"Love Notes" Sent Hitler

Every possible bit of scrap matter is being transformed into war materials by the Scots, and at Edinburgh, Scotland, even old love letters are being collected for manufacture into shells, bullets and munitions. In a special campaign, every type of old letter is sought in a campaign to send Hitler every possible message of Scotch regards.

Eyesight Protection Is Required in 'Teen Age

The teen age is a critical period in the life of a child. In school the task of learning become more difficult when a child enters his teens. The child must develop greater powers of concentration, coordinate and strengthen his mental powers of attention, association of ideas, memory and reasoning. He must expand his reading hours and study longer.

During this time of increased mental effort, important physical changes take place in the child's body. In adolescence the whole body is shaken up in the transition from childhood to adulthood. The nervous balance of the body is re-adjusted and important readjustments take place in the glandular system. Frequently the teens have been called the awkward age because of the many evidences of these readjustments.

Because of the increased visual tasks resulting from the speeding up of the educational process, and because of the extensive bodily adjustments that take place during the teens, eyesight protection and conservation in the child is highly important during this period. Points out the Better Vision Institute, if a child enters the teen age with eyes uncorrected to cope with the increased visual tasks, serious impairment of vision may result. That many young eyes deteriorate during this period is evidenced by surveys of vision in public schools indicating that nearly one out of five children graduating from grammar school has defects in vision.

Jap Push Hinges On Stalingrad Fight

Chungking, Sept. 10 (AP)—An authoritative Chinese commentator said today that whether open conflict breaks out between Japan and Russia may depend upon the outcome at Stalingrad.

"Japan might move against Siberia if the Germans overcame Soviet resistance at Stalingrad," the commentator said, "but she might stay her hand if the Nazi drive collapses."

Japanese leaders are finding it difficult to decide upon their next move, he added, but he predicted that the estimated six divisions in Burma are more likely to be used against China than India.

"India can be ruled out at present," he said.

Hairsten Is Sure Bennett Will Win

If Elections Were Tomorrow It Would Be Sure Thing, He Says

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Elections Commissioner Robert Hairsten, Democratic leader of Suffolk county, said today he was "optimistic" over the gubernatorial chances of Attorney General John J. Bennett, Democratic nominee.

"If we were to vote tomorrow," Hairsten told reporters at Bennett headquarters, "the plurality for Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate, could not be more than 12,000. I think we will have a majority in Suffolk county by election time for Bennett."

Suffolk county normally is a

Republican stronghold. Hairsten advanced two reasons for his optimism: "For the first time in a good many years," he said, "the Democratic party in Suffolk county is unified. Secondly, there has been an influx of New York city voters to this section who are working in defense plants. They are practically all Democrats."

College Students Notified

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson served notice today that college students who are members of the army enlisted reserve face a call to active military duty as soon as they reach the minimum legal age for service—now 20 years—because of increasing war demands for manpower. When the reserve was created, students were told the war department policy was to permit them to complete their college courses, if possible.

War's Tension Finds Kids O. K.

Best Way to Handle Them In Wartime Is Give Them Work, Says Expert.

NEW YORK—Irene Wicker, who as radio's singing lady has entertained thousands of children in peacetime, said recently that the best way to handle youngsters in the excitement of war is to give them something to do.

Miss Wicker, who has been amusing children and grownups since she was 12 when she played in summer stock, recently augmented her experience in dealing with the young with courses in child psychology and day nursery routine.

"It has been shown through studies made on children in war areas that children rapidly mature in wartime," said Miss Wicker. "The best thing to do, to keep them from going to pieces from emotional strain, as many children did in England under the early bombings, is to give them small tasks to work at."

Prefer Learn First Aid.

Miss Wicker told of her work in a settlement house. The smallest child in the settlement was given some chore, even if it was nothing more than bringing a candle to the blackout drill.

"One five-year-old boy was delighted to be a salvage worker," Miss Wicker related. "He collected twice as much rubber as some of the adults, and he insisted on being paid his penny for every pound of it."

"Children in wartime tire of their usual games. They don't want to play blindman's buff. They want to learn elementary first aid. The older ones enjoy learning how to help the younger ones."

Miss Wicker said she belongs to the school of thought that believes in explaining war dangers to children, but not in frightening them.

Teach Singing Games.

"Children can be given courses and taught to take care of themselves," she said, "if adults explain the dangers of war emergencies without frightening the wits out of the little ones."

"Many times the young are more dependable in an emergency than older people. They are nearly always clear thinkers because they are not inhibited by a lot of old thought patterns."

Miss Wicker taught a settlement house group a number of songs and stories to use in amusing younger children during raids or blackouts. "The children like best the familiar stories," she said, "such as Jack and the Beanstalk, Sleeping Beauty and Snow White. We also taught them many singing games."

Miss Wicker pointed out that the mistake made in England, of separating children from parents should be avoided. She said day nurseries which keep children near their parents, working in war industries, was the course being followed in England now and the one to be used here.

Nazis Are Worried by Speed of U. S. Production

LONDON—Increasing speed of United States war production brings a gnawing conviction to the Nazis that time is working against them in the world struggle grinding toward its climax.

Reports reaching London also indicate that the Germans are becoming increasingly worried by the wartime wear and tear on their machinery and men, not to mention their mounting losses.

The official German labor magazine, Der Frontarbeiter, has published revealing statements regarding the anxieties besetting the Reich and excerpts have reached the British capital via Stockholm.

"We realize today," the magazine is quoted as saying, "that the character of this war now is being influenced by the time factor. That is why the Reich cannot allow itself as much time as it could earlier."

Just Plastic and Zinc—That's the New War Razor

WASHINGTON—A safety razor made of plastics and zinc will be offered to the public shortly, the War Production board revealed recently.

It will have a plastic handle, a zinc cap and a zinc or plastic guard. Brass and copper will be eliminated. Production will begin within a few months and the new razor will go on sale when the present retail supply of razors is exhausted.

Recently the WPB froze the sale of all safety razors by manufacturers and jobbers and ordered that their stock of 1,400,000 be turned over to the armed forces.

Town in Oregon Moved 15 Miles by Railroad

BEND, ORE.—Central Oregon's migratory town, Shevlin, is getting used to its new surroundings in Klamath county 15 miles from its old location, where it remained nearly 10 years.

The 400 buildings and 600 residents of Shevlin, a logging town, were moved by railroad to new timber stands. The lumber company built a 12-mile spur track for the purpose.

200 Coal Sizes Blamed

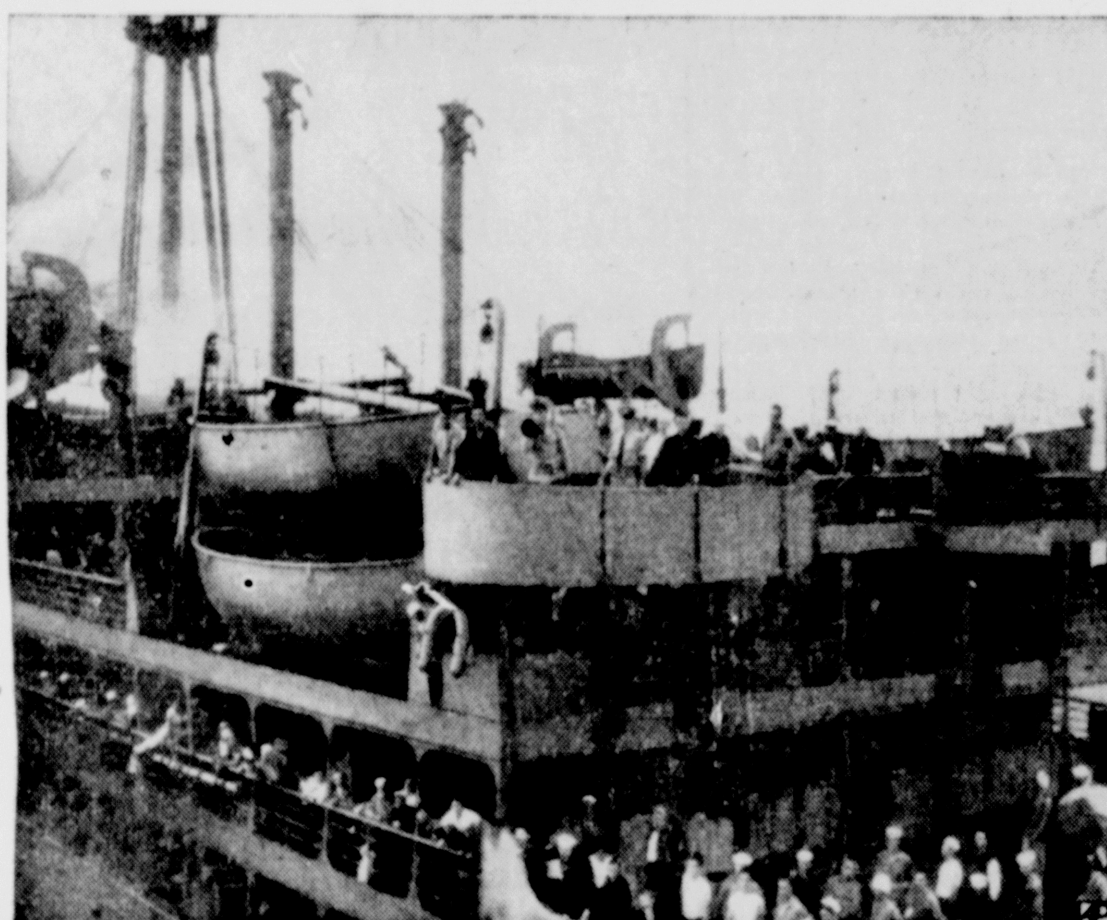

By bringing fuel apparatus up to date Britain could save 10,000,000 tons of coal a year, according to a London expert. He fixes most of the blame on the use of 200 sizes of coal to which appliances must be adapted. By simplifying the fuel problem the country could save the production of 35,000 miners.

Mrs. Mamie Wood will be alternate delegate replacing Mrs. Charlotte Salomon, who is unable to attend because of the serious illness of her husband in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie. For the pause of tribute, Mrs. Daisy Kurtz read a poem entitled "Our Flag" and a prayer for the boys in service. A howl lunch will be held at the meeting September 16, when the delegate returns from the session to give her report.

Mrs. Cecile Petersen and Mrs. Grace Graham expect to attend the session Thursday. The session will start with a banquet Tuesday evening followed by meetings Wednesday, election of state officers and installation Thursday. Initiation will be held at the next meeting. Mrs. Petersen, captain, called a rehearsal for Tuesday evening, September 15, in the lodge hall at 7:30 o'clock. Members expressed appreciation to the flagbearers, Mrs. Louise Sheeley and Mrs. Florence E. Cotant, for the gift of silk cords for the flags. Apple pie, cheese and coffee were served in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Cummings. Mrs. Emily Miller Decker, Mrs. Suzanne Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Decker, Miss Helen DuBois and Mrs. Katherine Fowler.

Sisterhood Meets

Highland, Sept. 9—At the meeting of Chapter A. P. E. O. Sisterhood, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Franklin Welker, the program on Mexico was prepared by the leader, Mrs. Irving Rathgeb, and read in two sections. The opening gave the historical setting of Mexico with maps to illustrate the account was given by Mrs. Arthur Poelma while the second half was read by Miss Emily Lent. This covered a later period of that country and brought events up to the present. A luncheon preceded the meeting which was presided over by Mrs. Clarence Rathgeb. This was the closing luncheon meeting and the lunch was enjoyed under the trees in the garden. Attending aside from Mrs. Rathgeb, and the hostess and her guest, Mrs. Sarah Rich were: Mrs. John Batten, Mrs. Theodore Cooch, Mrs. Edmund Carpenter, Mrs. DeWitt DuBois, Mrs. Harry Colyer, Mrs. Leah Dunlop, Miss Lula E. Clarke, Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck, Mrs. Wilbur Haviland, Miss Laura Harcourt, Mrs. A. W. Lent, Mrs. G. Hallock Mackey, Mrs. W. H. Maynard, Mrs. William Plank, Miss Emily Lent, Mrs. Philip Schantz, Mrs. Rose Seaman, Mrs. William Waterbury, Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail, Mrs. Clarence Tompkins, Mrs. Arthur Poelma, Mrs. Robert Cole, Mrs. D. H. Starr. The members are remembering with messages the sons or relatives of members who are in the services.

Village Notes

Highland, Sept. 9—Fred Cryer, who taught last year in Peekskill, has taken a similar position this year at Copake.

Miss Katherine Burger has gone to Nyack where she resumes her position as teacher.

The exterior of the Herbert Scholefield house is being painted. Frank Woolsey is having a fireplace added to the living room of his home on White street.

PLATTEKILL

Plattekill, Sept. 9—Impressive ceremonies marked the dedication of the newly erected grade school in Plattekill, Friday evening. B. H. Belknap, director of rural education, state education department, spoke on "American Ideals and World Realities," and other speakers were chairman of the board of education, Charles Terwilliger of Wallkill; District Superintendent Ralph Johnston of New Paltz. Invocation was by Father J. A. Dineen of the Sunset Camp division, and the dedicatory prayer was given by the Rev. Leo Benjamin, pastor of the Plattekill Methodist Church. Mary Deiner of Plattekill spoke on "What the School Will Mean to Me." H. Halversen of the firm of Teller and Halversen, Kingston, was the architect in charge. The cornerstone of the school was laid December 5, 1941, by George Sisti, vice president of the Wallkill Central District School Board. Pupils from the eastern part of the central district, including Plattekill, Garrow, Savillon, Unionville, Prospect Hill, Sylva, participated in the ceremonies.

The small one-room school in Plattekill has been sold to Raymond Ambrosino of Ardona. The Prospect Hill school sold to C. Lyngved.

Frank Derr of New York, George and Melville Branley of Newburgh were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernard Wager.

Robert Robinson of Wallkill was a caller in town last week. Miss Margaret Steele has returned to Brooklyn, after spending the summer vacation in this section.

Lights of New York

by L. L. STEVENSON

Subway Types: An ancient Chinese, wearing American clothes yet with his arms disappearing into the sleeves of his coat, his seamed countenance absolutely immobile and his bright, black eyes staring straight ahead. . . . A thin-faced man, with the corners of his mouth drawn down so sharply it makes him look as though he had taken a drink of vinegar before he boarded the train, staring at fellow passengers and then burying his face in a newspaper. . . . Three women, no longer young, yet all chewing gum vigorously as any school girl, their wagging jaws keeping time with the pounding of a flat wheel. . . . Six slim young sailors clinging to straps and one reading the ads aloud while others make comments that cause all to burst into laughter. . . . A drunk, surrounded by a strong stink of alcohol, sleeping in a car corner with his coat pockets turned inside out.

A thin, young priest, his hat pushed back from his high, white forehead, studying earnestly a small black book with gilt-edged pages. . . . A fat woman, her arms full of newspaper-wrapped bundles, slumping into a space not large enough for one one-quarter her size, and the man on either side jumping to his feet hastily. . . . A messenger boy with a floral horseshoe, almost as large as himself, hard put to protect his freight from the non-observing passers-by in the aisle. . . . A whiskered rabbi, his eyes moving from right to left, deeply engrossed in the inside pages of a Yiddish newspaper.

A poorly dressed woman with curiously gnarled and red hands which look as though they were not accustomed to a scrubbing brush, picking up a discarded newspaper and hurriedly turning to the society pages. . . . A guard, with a 30-block interval between stations, resting his tired feet by sinking into an empty seat. . . . An immaculate policeman, apparently just about to go on duty, looking the car over with professional curiosity before resting his broad back against an iron stanchion. . . . A woman discussing the sugar situation with her seat mate, her voice so penetrating that her words are clearly audible above the pound of wheels and all the assorted noises associated with a subway train moving at high speed through the long, dark hole in the ground.

A white-faced woman furtively wiping her eyes with a handkerchief and then, as a sob escapes her, hastily opening her hand bag and apparently busying herself with repairs to her make-up. . . . Musicians, evidently bound for rehearsal, holding various instruments, from fiddles to saxophones, in their arms as tenderly as if they were babies. . . . A woman with a funny little hair straggles down the center of her forehead ("When she was good, she was very, very good") so interested in watching a hand-holding boy and girl that she is unaware of the fact that her hand bag is open and some bills are exposed to the gaze of all who care to look.

A graying mail carrier tenderly rubbing his ankles, then settling back and pawing through his big leather pouch. . . . A member of the fire department, his silver buttons dull and his shoes unshined, carrying with him an odor of smoke. . . . A mother trying to quiet a crying baby by holding it over her shoulder and patting its three-cornered pants. . . . A subway track walker, his overalls grease-spattered and his face grimy, placing two ill-smelling lanterns on the car platform, then hauling out a box and taking a pinch of snuff. . . . A major of artillery and a major of infantry having some kind of a low-voiced conference.

Three darkly pretty girls chattering in Spanish, their conversation occasionally interrupted by discreet giggles. . . . Two older women, of the house frau type, starting to converse in German, then looking about them and resuming in broken English. . . . A woman with a face like a Madonna, messing her baby to her and tenderly kissing its little, pink ears. . . . Whenever I ride underground, I wish I were a sketch artist.

In my ears as I write this, is the shrill of the whistles of Times Square traffic cops. Through the window I can see the tower of the Empire State building. But in my ears also is the gentle song of the old Scioti as it slipped over the rifles and before my eyes is a great old tree, scarred by lightning, leaning out over brown waters. Oh for the old days!

Worker Makes $46, Puts $37 in Bonds
VANCOUVER, WASH. — War bond records at the Kaiser Shipyard showed one worker whose salary was $46.15 had signed for $37.50 worth of bonds each week. "If I'd gotten into the army I'd be making 21 bucks a month. This way I've got 34 a month left. Besides, I had a kid brother on Bataan."

GAS DEARTH HITS TRADE
Private automobiles were ordered off the streets of Brazil recently when gasoline ran short. All lines of trade depending on motor vehicle transportation were adversely affected. It is reported in Rio de Janeiro that plans are under way to convert 10,000 commercial motor vehicles into gasoline-propelled apparatus to cope with the shortage.

Post 'Spotters' At Stone Ridge Enjoyed Picnic

One hundred forty-six "spotters" manning the Observation Post officially listed by the army as A.W.S. 1219-C, under the supervision of Chief Observer Leon E. Chambers of Stone Ridge, were entertained with a special picnic lunch as guests of the chief observer and Mrs. Leon Chambers.

The observation post is located in Stone Ridge and is a unit of 18 such posts located in Ulster county under the direct control of the Aircraft Warning Service of the First Fighter Command. The 146 "spotters" composed of men and women volunteers serve in pairs in two-hour shifts, manning the post 24 hours.

Besides Chief Observer Leon E. Chambers, there are two assistant chief observers, Oswald Jacobson and Jesse Barnhardt, both of Stone Ridge.

Representing the army personnel at this event were Privates Bixby and Parker, who explained to the "spotters" the functioning of the filter board after the "army-flash" is sent out. The most intricate details were discussed and presented by the two army representatives who form the contact squad in behalf of the First Fighter Command.

A.W.S. 1219-C, has been erected by a fund maintained by the "spotters" serving this post and is fully equipped and its roster fully completed. Chief Observer Chambers told Civil District Director Eugene P. MacConnell "I don't think there is a better crew of 'spotters' in the country and its an honor to head them."

W. F. Leehive Named on Public Works Board

Mayor William F. Edelmuth has appointed William F. Leehive of 30 Emerson street as a member of the Board of Public Works to succeed John B. Sterley, whose term has expired. Mr. Leehive's term will expire on September 8, 1946.

With the expiration of the term of Mr. Sterley the only Republican member of the board is Commissioner Homer J. Emerick. Commissioner Leehive is an assistant superintendent with the Kingston office of the Prudential Insurance Co. He was born in Whiteport, and had been a resident of this city for nearly 25 years. Mr. Leehive is a past president of the Kiwanis Club and a former grand knight of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus.

He is also a past president of the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church, and is now serving as president of the Ulster-Sullivan district of the Archdiocesan Holy Name.

Negro Is Fined $25 By Special City Judge

Raymond Enty, 28, a negro, of 581 Broadway, was fined $25 by Special City Judge Daniel Hoffman when Enty was arraigned before him in police court, charged with disorderly conduct in staging a fight with his wife on North Front street at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The fight was suddenly halted by Policeman John J. Harner, who placed husband and wife under arrest on charges of disorderly conduct, but the fight was not stopped before Mrs. Enty had suffered a badly discolored eye. She appeared in court today with a deep gash under the eye. The wound had been treated and bandaged by a physician.

Mrs. Enty when she was arraigned on the disorderly conduct charge and informed of her rights said she desired to consult an attorney, and her hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday.

Enty's story of the fight was to the effect that he was standing in front of 117 North Front street, when his wife approached him carrying an umbrella. He said she struck him over the head with the umbrella several times, and that then he struck her in self defense.

Judge Hoffman in imposing the fine informed Enty that he had no right to take the law into his own hands.

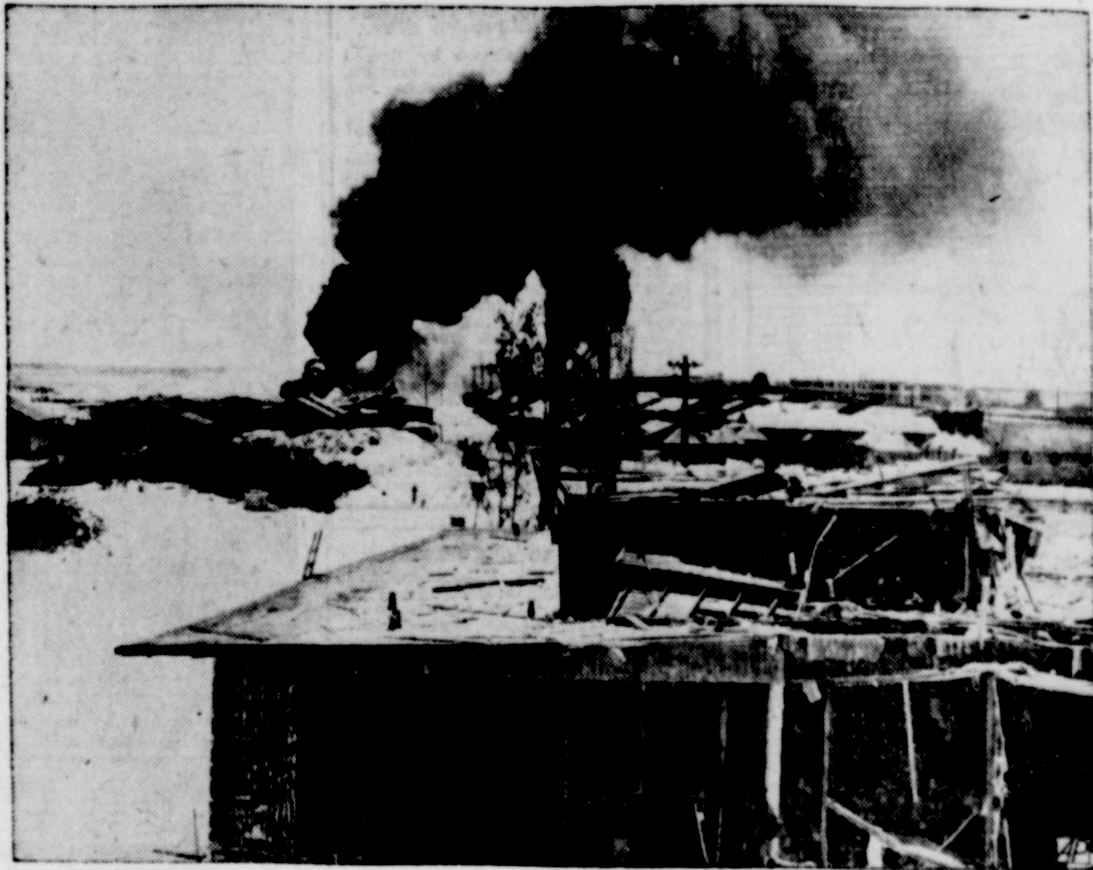

CONVENIENT. No measuring, or sifting. No bother. Nothing to do but just add water to the contents of a package of Flako and there's your pie crust ready to roll out and put in the oven. Best of all, Flako's quality ingredients are precision-mixed assuring you of light, flaky pie crusts at every baking.

Just add egg and milk for 12 to 18 delicious corn muffins.

Local Man Dies In Newburgh Jail

Expect Welder Was Held on Intoxication Charge

Lee Merton Macomber, 32, of 10 Pine street, this city, was found dead in his cell in the city hall jail in Newburgh at 5 o'clock this morning by Police Lieutenant Fred Adams, who entered the cell to awaken him.

Dr. Warren B. Andrews and Coroner Leon Clifford concurred in a verdict of death from acute alcoholism.

According to the Newburgh police Macomber was arrested last night in that city on a charge of public intoxication and was locked in the cell to await arraignment in court this morning.

At the time Macomber was arrested he refused to furnish any information about himself and from time to time during the night police officers went to the cell to see if he would reply to questions needed to fill out the blotter data kept on file in police headquarters.

Macomber appeared to be sleeping, and it was not until this morning that Lieut. Adams discovered when he attempted to awaken him that he was dead.

The Kingston police were asked to notify Macomber's family of his death.

Macomber was an expert welder by trade.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Blanche Macomber; a daughter, Carol; a son, Richard; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Macomber of New Berlin.

More taxis are operating in Dublin and Elre generally than ever before, despite the gasoline shortage. Many private cars have been transformed into taxis lately. A large number of the drivers are women. Complaint is heard that most of the new taxi drivers are inexperienced.

PRESS NEEDED IN CRISIS
Newspapers are an essential morale factor in an emergency. Colonel C. V. Ciochetto, regional commissioner of the Emergency Reserve Corps, told defense plan executives at Gisborne, New Zealand. Provision for newspaper transport must be included in planning for an emergency. Col. Ciochetto said, because of the rapid spread of alarming rumors when no official news is available.

Recreations Finish 1942 Year With Mark of .709; Win 22 Out of 31 Games

Whitey Tulacz Paces Mound Staff With 11 Wins; Downer and Lucchi Tie

A .709 average for the 1942 baseball season has been the official clip of the Kingston Recreations for the past year. In other words the Recs played a total of 31 games, won 22 and dropped only nine decisions, which is great ball playing in any league.

The unofficial close of the current campaign came last Saturday night at the municipal stadium when Kingston scored a 10 to 0 victory over the Mount Vernon Scarlets of the Metropolitan Baseball Association. Originally, the season was to have its curtain finale last night at the stadium but rain forced the club to cancel the game and also to cancel any further bookings.

This year Kingston started off the season like a house on fire after absorbing a couple of defeats at the hands of the famous Bushwicks of Detroit. At one time the club had a six-game winning streak until it bumped into the troublesome Newark Eagles of the Negro National League.

All was serene in the camp of the Recreations, too, until a little after the middle of the campaign. Some fireworks resulted and later two members of the club were disposed of. However, only one of the players was criticized as the cause of the inside trouble. After this the Recs signed Roy Tarr and Al Cuccinello, two ace New York semi-pro ball players, who fitted into the local picture nicely and once again the club represented one of the most powerful semi-pro units in the east.

Bad Breaks Hurt

Throughout the year the club has been getting its share of tough breaks. In one place a man weather didn't help the cause any. Rain has interfered a number of times. Only last week another incident prevented the club from cashing in on a crowd of about 2,000 fans when an accident occurred to the Puerto Ricans on their trip to Kingston. Four players were injured and the club was forced to abandon its engagement at the local stadium. Other bad breaks hampered the club throughout the 1942 campaign. Still, the Recs have a handsome average of .709.

Although there have been many comments on the club this year, many fans agree that this year's edition of the Recreations is superior to that of 1941. A few of the hitters have slumped terribly but on the whole, the club carried additional power.

Local fans have seen plenty of good ball playing at the local ballpark this year. Some of the finest road clubs in the country have traveled to the stadium to tangle with the Recs. Such outstanding clubs as the Bushwicks, Brooklyn Royal Giants, Cuban Stars, Springfield Grays, Black Yankees, Homestead Grays, New York Police, Newark Eagles, Baltimore Elites, Cincinnati Buckeyes, Boston Braves, Kansas City Monarchs, Memphis Red Sox, Puerto Rican Stars, Grumman Bombers and the Mount Vernon Scarlets have appeared here this year.

One particular game stands as the idol in the hearts of the Recreations. That came on August 6 when Manager Casey Stengel's Boston Braves of the National League came to the municipal stadium and scored a 9 to 0 victory. This was the aim of the club to bring a major league team here. Perhaps others would have been booked had it not been for the lateness of the year and also due to the war situation. However, that game does stand as the big game of the year despite the final result.

Throughout this season local patrons have seen many fine ball players wearing the uniform of the Recs. The team management tried its best to lure in the best possible players, regardless of the price. Many fans have selected their favorite player.

In the official opinion of this newspaper the one player who remained as the most outstanding all year was the Kingston Recreation first baseman, Ralph Coleman. Ralph always played a grand game at the initial sack. He was a team player all the way. Coleman also played the bag during the 1941 year.

Tied for Honors

Getting into the statistics of the ball club shows that Ernie Downer and Angelo Lucchi were tied having .325. There were others with higher marks but did not bat in enough games to be considered. Last year Chuck Yanni, third baseman, topped the club in hitting with an average of .325.

John "Whitey" Tulacz was the best pitcher, as far as winning and saving games were concerned. He pitched 11 victories and suffered only two setbacks. His average for the year was .846. Bill Simmons was the other regular moundman who won four and lost three for a .571 mark. Bill Thomas, who was one of the most effective hurlers last year, was not concerned with any wins or losses. He was used on the mound twice, only in relief roles.

In those 31 ball games this year Kingston tallied a total of 161 runs as against 101 for its opponents. The Recs suffered the whitewashing in two games, the Boston Braves 9-0 and the Kansas City Monarchs by 5-0. The Rec hurlers blanked the Homesteads, 1-0; Puerto Ricans, 1-0; Grum-

Yanks Need 5 Wins To Get Pennant; Bonham Cops 19th

Entire National League Schedule Washed Out; Pollet Will Pitch Against Giants

(By The Associated Press) There's no need to be in a hurry, but the New York Yankees apparently are ready to clinch their sixth pennant in seven years this week-end.

Any combination of five victories by New York or five defeats for the Boston Red Sox will keep the Yankees on the throne and this little qualification could be attended to by Sunday—or before. The Bombers blasted out an 8-3 triumph over the St. Louis Browns yesterday for their fifth straight success and 11th in 12 games. This put them 10 full games in front of the Red Sox, who were idle.

If the Yanks add five more victories in a row the clincher would come next Sunday in Cleveland, according to the schedule, even if the Sox also win all their games in the meantime. Every game Boston loses, of course, means one less the Yankees must win.

Gordon Hits Grand Slam The champions didn't act like they would need the help of any Boston defeats as they went about the business of subduing the third place St. Louis club yesterday. In the first inning Joe Gordon hit a homer with the bases loaded, his 18th roundtripper and second grand slam of the season, and New York completed all of its scoring in four frames before big Ernie Bonham allowed the Browns either a hit or a run. Afterward he related to the extent of giving eight safeties, but was able to coast to his 19th win.

The only other major league game that escaped the weather was a 13-inning night marathon which the Philadelphia Athletics wangled from the Cleveland Indians 5-4.

Phil Marchildon, pitching five no-hit innings in relief, gained credit for his 17th victory when the A's pushed across a run in the 13th on a walk, a single by Bob Johnson and a fly by Dick Siebert. The tide day in the National League permitted the senior circuit to turn its full attention to the impending series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals.

Today the Cards have a date with the New York Giants and the Dodgers must take on the Chicago Cubs, but these ventures are merely warmups for the two games tomorrow and Saturday.

The standings now show: Brooklyn W L GB GP St. Louis .91 46 3 17 St. Louis it would be possible for the Redbirds, with some help from the Cubs, to draw abreast of the Dodgers in the next three days. But it also would be possible for Brooklyn to gain an almost prohibitive lead over the challengers from the west.

Cooper Pitches Friday Both clubs are girded for the battle with their best pitchers ready. Manager Billy Southworth named his young giant, Howie Pollet, to face the Giants at the Polo Grounds today and planned to follow with his ace, Mort Cooper, in the first game at Brooklyn. He said his choice for the second game lay between Max Lanier and Johnny Beazley—a former Dodger jinx and the latter already a 19-game winner as a rookie.

Kirby Higbe, with a record for puzzling the Cubs, was assigned to tame the Bruins today for Brooklyn, leaving the handling of St. Louis to Whitlow Wyatt and Rookie Max Macon.

Nocondo Bowlers

A social hour will be held at the Hotel Elchier tonight at 8 o'clock for all members of the Nocondo Bowling League. At this session teams will be organized for the coming season. It is requested that all of last year's bowlers be on hand in addition to the newcomers who are interested in joining the loop this year.

League Is Disbanded Due to the tire and gas shortage, it was announced last night that the Hudson Valley Bowling League will not be held this year. The league had been in running for the last seven seasons.

Oscar Wheat, president of the loop, said his Monticello club was ready for action again this year but that he was the only captain with positive plans. The Hudson Valley League was organized eight years ago in Walden by a group of bowling men including Al Jones, this city; Charlie Grassley of Port Jervis; Brown Hunter of Walden; Cecil Rhodes of Newburgh and Ed Richburg of Walden.

Power Boat Meeting The regular monthly meeting of the Kingston Power Boat Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the club house. Every member is urged to attend. Matters of importance will be discussed.

Patent medicine prices are soaring in Mexico, and the government has threatened to peg them.

Zivic Probable Winner Over Cochrane Tonight

13,000 Fans Are Expected at Garden for Big U.S.O. Benefit; Last for 'Red'

By SID FEDER

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Simply off the past performance charts and the "dope" sheets, you have to pick Fritz Zivic to flail the daylight out of Freddie the Red Cochrane in Madison Square Garden tonight. The fight will be broadcast over station WOR at 10 o'clock.

But, while even his greatest admirers shudder to think of what might happen to the sailor boy from Jersey in the course of the ten round non-title brawl tonight, Freddie rises to remark that it's about time the boys and girls lent an ear to his theme song.

This is a take-off on a tune of the day and is entitled, "I Did It Before—And I Can Do It Again." And, no matter how you look at their recent efforts—Zivic's work stands out over Red's like the circus fat lady overshadows the midge—you have to admit that Freddie might have something there. It is possible he could prove it to the expected assemblage of 13,000 tonight.

It was just about 14 months ago that Cochrane was supposed to roll over and play dead for Fritz in a ring over in Newark. But Freddie wound up by taking the worst known heavyweight championship away from Zivic. And, make no mistake about it—he was the winner that night fairly and squarely, with no hocus-pocus involved.

Fritzite by 1-2

On that occasion, Zivic was a 1 to 7 favorite, and there were no takers. Tonight Fritzite will be 1 to 2, largely because in his recent trips to the post he has done everything Freddie the Red has done—and done it better. Cochrane's three starts saw him outpoint the fading Lew Jenkins, take a decision from Young Bobby Britton and drop a verdict to Garret Young of the marines. Fritzite took all three of these decisions by knocking him all out. For that reason this corner bats Fritzite to get the revenge he's been hollering about for more than a year. In fact, it wouldn't be too much of a shock if he got it the sweetest way possible—by a knockout.

There'll be two winners coming out of this scramble—the victor in the ring and the U. S. O. The organization that entertains the soldiers and sailors gets a slice of the cake from the cash register, and Promoter Mike Jacobs expects a $35,000 bit of pastry. It's going to be the last time, too, folks are going to get a chance to see Freddie doing his stuff until the war's over. The navy has ordered him to active sea duty right after the fight. Some gagsters probably will suggest it wouldn't be a bad idea if he went before the fight.

Middletown Loses Seven Outstanding Gridiron Players

Apparently all district high school football teams have been hit hard by graduation, losses to the various branches of the services and others through numerous other outlets.

At Kingston High School Coach Ted Conwike, the new grid boss who is replacing Tommy Weems, now in active service, was greeted by only a handful of experienced players. Poughkeepsie and Newburgh have felt the same trouble. Coach Johnny Bateman's Middletown High School football squad has lost such outstanding players as Angelo Bellino, Charlie Moser, Tony Capozella, Frank Bellotto, Joe Bearisto, Fred Schild and Harry Bambach.

However, the Middle mentor will have Tony Gobeo, Harman, Bobby Burton and Harry Meyers back for action this year. Bateman had about 54 healthy looking prospects out for drills this week and the spirit of the club was excellent. Middletown opens the season against Mont Pleasant of Schenectady on Saturday, September 26.

According to an informant from Middletown who says, "with an eye on the rapidly approaching game with Mont Pleasant of Schenectady on the 26th, Bateman has lost no time in working the team into condition. The spirit of the club

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Sept. 10 — Garret Hughes after spending some time at the Herrick house here returned to his home in Hollywood on Wednesday.

Mrs. Donald Mc Clelland, who spent a few days at the Kingston Hospital, returned to her home here on Labor Day.

In spite of the heavy motor traffic in Woodstock over the holiday, not an accident was reported by the police.

The notices for the collection of school taxes are now out and the list is receivable at the home of the collector, Mary C. Meyer. Taxes are receivable at one per cent for 30 days from September 8. After that date five per cent will be charged.

COPPER TREASURES FOUND

Copper earrings and hairpins were popular with the Sumerian women of 3000 B. C., buried treasures now on display in the Baghdad Museum reveal. In restoring a woman's grave, a belt of shell beads, copper toilet ornaments and cockle-shells of eye-black also were found. Near the remains were copper and clay vessels for food and drink in the journey to the next world.

Palestine expects to produce over 8,000 tons of olives this year.

Allied Forces Sink 25 Jap Ships and 500 Enemy Planes

Operations Are All Within MacArthur's Command; 41 Other Vessels Are Damaged

Melbourne, Sept. 10 (AP)—Allied forces have definitely sunk 25 Japanese warships and transports and destroyed 500 enemy planes and perhaps 500 in less than five months, a review of communications from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters disclosed today.

The operations all were in the Australia war zone, the area embraced in MacArthur's southwest Pacific command.

Forty-one additional warships and transports were damaged, and a total of 177 enemy planes severely damaged or "probably damaged," making the aerial toll 477. The real total on enemy air planes, it was believed, probably exceeds 500 planes since on many occasions when bombs were dropped on parked aircraft there was no means of determining the exact results.

Of the 300 aircraft definitely reported 202 were fighters, 60 bombers, 11 float planes, seven flying boats, and 11 were of unspecified types. They were destroyed either in combat, by anti-aircraft fire, or by bombing of enemy air bases.

Allied plane losses for the same period cannot be given with any degree of accuracy because many of the early communications issued by the southwest Pacific command, beginning April 21, did not give them. The highest Allied loss given in a single operation was four planes.

The tabulation since April 21 shows these Japanese shipping losses, exclusive of many landing barges destroyed and damaged:

Large Submarines 3
Midget Submarines 4
Transport or Cargo Ships 12

Nation's Farm Machinery Not Completely Used, Yet
Millions of dollars for farmers and millions of gallons of fuel for war can be saved by simple tractor adjustments and repairs, producers of food-for-freedom were reminded by agricultural engineers of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Some of these are the adjustment of the carburetor and governor, cleaning out clogged air cleaner, removing dirt from between the radiator fins, repairing magnetos and grinding valves, according to E. W. Lehmann, head of the department, and H. P. Bateman, assistant.

Many farm machines are not used as many hours during the year as they could effectively be used, especially during the war program. This extra available use could take care of the machine and labor shortage in many areas. It will be necessary for some farmers owning harvesting and threshing machines to do more custom work as a patriotic duty.

The engineers also recommend the training of more farm machine operators and repair men and the promotion of an accident and fire prevention program.

Paint for Ammunition
Shell makers are leaning heavily on finishing materials. Whether 57 mm. or 155 mm. shells must be coated inside and out—inside to prevent dangerous reaction between metal and explosive and outside to prevent corrosion and for identification. Automatic spray machines that coat and bake 105 mm. shells with infra-red at the rate of 1,000 per hour are now in use, and they contrast amazingly with the 40 per hour output obtained with ten-men hand-painting crews in 1918. Metal and wood shell boxes must also be finished.

Scrap Drive in Kingston Will Start Saturday
Saturday is the day for the city wide scrap round-up in Kingston. And in order to insure its success the Salvage Committee is asking all residents of the city to participate in the drive and observe the following suggestions.

The scrap drive will start Saturday morning at 8 a. m. for all wards in the city except five and six. Materials needed are metal, rubber articles, rags and magazines. Materials not included in the drive are newspapers and tin cans, these can be put out in your regular ash collection day.

Boy Scouts and children from schools six and eight will accompany the truck to pick up the material. The collection in ward five will be held on Friday evening and in ward six on Tuesday and Wednesday.

If any scrap is overlooked, residents are asked to get in touch with George Goodfellow, general chairman, phone 1100.

Materials should be left by the curb and in the event of rain magazines should be left on the front porch.

At one time recently 30,000 people waited for tickets at Blackpool Central Station in London.

Montreal is built around a mountain.

Hot Water Pipe Burst
A hot water pipe burst in the apartment of Mrs. William Weber on the second floor of the house at 102 Cedar street at 8 o'clock Wednesday night and flooded the apartment of Mrs. Anna Straub on the floor below.

The police department was called and Officers Hyatt and Van Aken were obliged to force the cellar door in order to obtain entrance and shut off the water.

Blackout Driving
What should you do if it becomes necessary to drive your car in a blackout?

Three basic rules are suggested. They are:

1. When in doubt about what is ahead, get out of the car and investigate.

2. Never drive faster than 15 miles per hour through a residential section, and even less while driving through an intersection.

3. Before starting to drive wait from 10 to 25 minutes until your eyes become adjusted to the darkness.

It should be remembered, however, that these rules are for emergency driving only. The best place for your car during a blackout is in the garage.

At one time recently 30,000 people waited for tickets at Blackpool Central Station in London.

Downs Street Man Burned by Flareup

Calvin Swart Escapes Serious Injury; Gas Main Damaged

Calvin Swart of 39 Downs street was burned about the face, but not seriously, and his hair singed, when the lighted cigarette he was holding ignited gas escaping from a broken gas main on Ora Place, about 10 feet from the intersection of Downs street, at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

The cap on the gas main on Ora Place had been broken when it was struck by an unidentified truck last night. Mrs. M. B. Warner of 37 Downs street, hearing the crash, went outdoors to investigate and smelled escaping gas.

Mrs. Swart, who was walking past also noticed the odor and called to her husband.

Mr. Swart and several others were looking for the gas leak. Mr. Swart discovered it.

The fire and police departments were called, and a call sent for the emergency truck of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Policemen Hyatt, Van Aken, Every and Welch responded to the call, and attended to traffic while the firemen and emergency crew of the gas company extinguished the fire.

The two men of the emergency crew on the Central Hudson truck used chemicals and extinguished the fire. At the time the burning gas was leaking to a height of fully 12 feet in the air. A new cap was placed on the gas main. The excitement drew a large crowd to the scene.

Coldest Day of Month
Kingston's official thermometer in the city hall varied but two degrees all day Wednesday, the coldest day so far experienced this month, with temperatures ranging from 61 to 63 degrees as rain fell throughout the day. The total precipitation Tuesday night and all day Wednesday was 1.01 inches, while early this morning there was a fall of .06 of an inch. The total precipitation so far this month has been 1.38 inches of rain.

Gas Sales Curbed
Argentina is limiting deliveries of gasoline to filling stations and hopes to avoid rationing by a 20 per cent reduction in petroleum consumption. Many retailers have cut sales to a maximum of 5 1/2 quarts. Carburetors are to be equipped with governors, it is reported in Buenos Aires.

Police Court Cases

Paul J. Hermance, 19, of Hudson, was arrested Wednesday by the police charged with parking his truck with the wheels more than six inches from the curb on Broadway, near Staples street.

Hermance posted bail for his appearance in police court on September 16. Joseph Dunn, 38, of 47 Newkirk avenue, was arrested at 12:05 o'clock this morning on a charge of public intoxication when residents of Jarvis street, near West Chester street, reported to the police that there was a truck parked on that street. Later in the morning Judge Hoffman suspended sentence. Alfred Ose of Highland, charged with public intoxication on Wall street, forfeited $10 bail he had posted when he failed to appear in court today to answer to the charge.

Schriek Signs Order
Justice Harry E. Schriek has signed an order fixing the compensation and expense allowance for the members of Consolidated Delaware Commission, Sections 5, 6, 7, 9, 10 and 11, Rondout Highway Section and Neversink Highway Section No. 1. The members of the commission for appraisal were John G. L. Molloy, Arthur Rice and James J. Hutchinson, who are awarded $5,250 each as compensation for their services as members of the commission and Commissioner Molloy is allowed $1,647.75 for expenses. Mr. Rice $1,275.50 and Mr. Hutchinson $1,272.25.

Grossberg Case Adjourned
Paul Grossberg, 24, of Stone Ridge, was arrested this morning by the police on a charge of disorderly conduct in being unable to give a satisfactory account of himself. Grossberg had no Selective Service registration card in his possession. Later in the morning Special City Judge Daniel Hoffman in police court adjourned the hearing to September 15, to afford the P. B. I. an opportunity to investigate Grossberg.

Cycle Patrol Shunned
The magistrate also was at the end of his tether in considering alibis to avoid long-distance bicycle trips while gasoline is scarce. So Constable G. Vetter has been labeled guilty on the charge of refusing to go on bicycle patrol duty at Kierksdorp, South Africa. Vetter said he was "at the end of his tether" and unfit to participate in the long-distance pedaling patrol ordered. Assistant Magistrate A. E. Richhardt refused to accept the excuse.

Ickes Predicts 25 Per Cent Cut In Heating Oils

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP)—Petroleum Coordinator Ickes estimated today there would be a deficiency of home heating oil on the east coast this winter of possibly 25 per cent.

Testifying before a special House committee, Ickes said he hoped the picture would be better, but that "we can't guarantee it. I believe it is unmerciful to raise false hopes."

He added that military objectives "must take precedence over domestic requirements."

Declaring fuel oil shipments were being given the right-of-way over gasoline movements to the 17 gasoline rationed Atlantic seaboard states, Ickes said "if taking tank cars for the east means a scarcity any place else we will take them."

"It may mean rationing or a reduction in deliveries" in other areas, he said.

The eastern fuel oil deficiency, he said, would depend a lot on how well home owners converted heating equipment.

Ickes testified he had never seen "any industry respond as cheerfully as the oil industry" did to petroleum regulations.

Speaking of his own petroleum coordination office, Ickes said "we have as capable a group of experts as any oil company."

"We are running the job on a factual basis. No one has asked us to play politics. We wouldn't if we were asked. We have no favorites, we have no friends, and practically no enemies."

The petroleum deficiency, he said, "is one of transportation and not of products."

Two actions for personal injuries were brought in Supreme Court this morning against the Seaboard Freight Lines, a New York corporation, and a subsidiary corporation, owners and operators of a tractor and trailer.

The actions are brought by Ed Thomas of Kingston, who was injured, loss of time, hospital and medical care and by Burton Markle also of Kingston who was in addition to a personal injury and loss of wage cause for damages to his car.

The action arises out of an accident about two miles south of Catskill on October 24, 1940, when a tractor-trailer of the corporation operated by Fred Ostrum of Albany and the Markle and Thomas were involved in an accident. Both men were confined to a hospital for some time and suffered considerable injury.

Thorp and Friedman appear for the plaintiffs and Roscoe V. E. worth for the defendants.

Two Actions Face Seaboard Line In Supreme Court

Two actions for personal injuries were brought in Supreme Court this morning against the Seaboard Freight Lines, a New York corporation, and a subsidiary corporation, owners and operators of a tractor and trailer.

The actions are brought by Ed Thomas of Kingston, who was injured, loss of time, hospital and medical care and by Burton Markle also of Kingston who was in addition to a personal injury and loss of wage cause for damages to his car.

The action arises out of an accident about two miles south of Catskill on October 24, 1940, when a tractor-trailer of the corporation operated by Fred Ostrum of Albany and the Markle and Thomas were involved in an accident. Both men were confined to a hospital for some time and suffered considerable injury.
